31 Firemen Join Fight At Straw Shed

Estimate Of Damage Placed Unofficially At Near $40,000

An investigation was to begin today to pinpoint the cause of a late afternoon fire which leveled a large wooden storage shed at the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. in Newell Tuesday.

Destroyed in the blaze, which broke out about 4:30 yesterday afternoon, were two company vehicles, large amounts of cardboard cartons used for packing ware, about 30 tons of straw and miscellaneous equipment and repair parts for machinery.

The loss is expected to total about $40,000, although company officials had no official estimate pending a further check today of the contents of the 100-foot-square one-story frame shed.

Firemen from Newell and Chester battled the blaze for about an hour and succeeded in preventing the fire from igniting four fuel oil storage tanks located nearby. But the building and its contents were a mass of flames by the time firemen arrived at the scene.

Firemen believe the blaze either was ignited by spontaneous combustion or set accidentally by children who were reported playing in the area of the shed, which is in the center of the firm's parking lot in the north end of Newell.

Hundreds of persons lined Harrison and 4th Sts. to watch as the burning straw and cardboard cartons sent billowing towers of black smoke high into the air. Others viewed the fire from the "super - road" between East Liverpool and Wellsville.

A plant official said the firm will be handicapped by a shortage of cardboard packing cartons and extra storage space, but production was under way normally today.

The official added that he had been informed that several children were seen in the area of the building shortly before the fire broke out.

Newell firemen received the alarm from William Fletcher of Glenmoor, an employe of the Sayre Electric Co. who was working at the nearby New Castle Refractories Co.

Fourteen firemen from Newell were at the scene, along with 17 from the Chester volunteer fire department. New Cumberland firemen were called to stand by on alert in case another fire broke out in the Newell area.

East Liverpool did not send any equipment to the fire, although Chief Charles Bryan sped to the community to see if any aid was needed.

One of the vehicles destroyed was a comparatively new truck used by the firm for hauling equipment at the plant and the other was a station wagon several years old, an official said.

Seven fuel tanks located about 60 feet from the leveled building were believed in danger of igniting from sparks, but fortunately the four nearest tanks were empty, the firm said.

Had the blaze started two hours earlier, the total loss may have been greater, as employes use the lot near the building for parking.

A Newell fireman speculated that the blaze might have been ignited because of spantaneous combustion, pointing out that recent rains might have dampened straw bales in the building and the bright sunshine of Tuesday could have given heat to the material.

Charles Lee, assistant fire chief at Newell, said he will investigate today in an effort to pinpoint the cause. The firm also is investigating in an attempt to fix the overall loss.

Steel Union Asks Nixon's Help On Pact

Plea Is Presented Personally By Head Of Steelworkers

NEW YORK (AP)—The Steelworkers Union has appealed to Vice President Richard M. Nixon for help in getting a wage boost and other contract benefits from the industry.

Union President David J. McDonald presented the plea personally to Nixon, an avowed foe of inflation.

McDonald said he went to Pittsburgh and sought out Nixon to complain that the steel companies were "provoking a shutdown" by balking at offering any contract gains.

The union chief declined to tell newsmen what Nixon's reaction was. He said only that he supposed Nixon reported to President Eisenhower on the conference.

Negotiations between four-man teams representing the union and the 12 biggest steel companies continue here today.

McDonald's announcement Tuesday that he had been in Pittsburgh conferring with Nixon dispelled a two-day mystery about his absence from the stalemated contract talks here.

The union chief said he told Nixon the steel bargaining has gotten nowhere and that, as things stood, there was no chance of a new contract extension.

Present agreements expire at midnight July 14. That's when a two-week extension inspired by Eisenhower runs out.

McDonald said that unless contract talks develop considerably he will recommend a strike to the union's wage-policy committee.

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, was obviously piqued at McDonald's journey to see Nixon, who was in Pittsburgh to attend the All-Star baseball game.

The industry has stood firm on its intent to give the half million steelworkers in the basic producing industry nothing more than has been contained in the expiring contracts. Even more, the companies have insisted on contract modifications.

McDonald has called for a substantial boost in wages — now averaging $3.10 an hour — plus pension and other concessions. He says industry profits warrant the changes without any price boosts.

County Child Becomes 2nd Polio Case Of '59

LISBON — The illness of Phillip Wickersham, 11, of Kensington, admitted to Aultman Hospital in Canton July 4, was diagnosed today as polio. He is the second in the county stricken with the disease this year.

His condition is "fairly good," the hospital said. The boy, a student at United Local Schools, received a second polio immunization shot March 5, 1957, from the County Health Department. Hospital records do not show if he received a third, or "booster," shot.

George Firm Sells Plant In Pennsylvania

EAST PALESTINE — A sales contract transferring ownership of Plant 2 of the W. S. George Pottery Co. in Canonsburg to the Greater Canonsburg Development Corp. has been signed by officials of the pottery and the development group, a community enterprise. The price was $247,000.

Details of the transaction were announced here today by Paul J. Steffens, president of W. S. George, who signed for the company. A $10,000 performance bond has been posted by the development group to guarantee the transaction will be completed. Official completion of the sale is awaiting issuance of an insured title and abstract now being prepared by a Pittsburgh firm.

The contract provides that the W. S. George concern will retail all equipment used in the production of dinnerware with the exception of the kilns and one drier. The equipment already is being moved from the Canonsburg plant to Plant No. 1 in East Palestine.

It is expected the development corporation will lease or sell the Canonsburg plant to the Haws Manufacturing Co. of Johnstown, Pa., which makes refractory brick and other clay products.

Money received from the sale of the property will be used to reduce the bonded debt of the East Palestine firm.

"This will greatly reduce the fixed operating charges and will make regular business financing available," Steffen said. The East Palestine plant now is closed for vacations. It normally employs 350.

Guthrie Leaves George For Post At Laughlin's

George Guthrie of Chester has resigned as general superintendent of the W. S. George Pottery Co. at East Palestine to take a post as chief mechanical engineer with the Homer Laughlin China Co.

His resignation was announced today at the same time the concern revealed it has sold its Canonsburg plant.

Guthrie joined W. S. George a year ago in April after serving with the Hall China Co. A company announcement said he will remain available to W. S. George as a consultant on questions of equipment and mechanical problems. During his connection with W. S. George, he served as a director of the firm.

Union Will Protest Firing Of 8 At J&L

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Officials of United Steelworkers Local 1211 say they will protest through a grievance proceedure the firing of eight employes by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Seven men and a woman were fired Tuesday for participating in an unauthorized work stoppage at the firm's Aliquippa works last week.

The company said the employes engaged in activities forbidden by the contract between it and the union. None of the employes was identified.

Jobless Pay Boost Voted By Ohio House

Senate Approval Of $42 Compromise Increase Expected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House has voted a compromise on the controversial unemployment compensation bill. Surprisingly, the Senate probably will go along and make the compromise stick.

That was the word in informed legislative circles today, despite general acceptance of the belief that labor partisans in the Senate would force the issue to a joint Senate-House conference committee.

The House, after more than two hours of heated debate, Tuesday night passed a jobless benefits bill increasing the top award to a single unemployed worker from $33 to $42. The Senate version of the bill would have boosted the figure to $47.

The House, by a 91-42 vote, increased maximum dependency allowances from $6 at present to $11 a week. Present law calls for $3 for each of two dependent children. The House version calls for $5 a week for the first dependent, including a spouse, and $3 a week each of two additional dependent children. The Senate version increased the dependency allowances from two to three at a rate of $3 each.

Maximum payable under the House version is $53 a week compared with $56 under the Senate version.

As the bill passed the Senate, benefits would have been payable for 30 weeks compared with 26 weeks under the House version and 26 weeks under present law. The House struck out an amendment which would have directed the administrator of unemployment compensation to increase the benefit period to 39 weeks any time unemployment in Ohio exceeded 4 per cent of the entire work force covered by the unemployment compensation act.

The House also eliminated Great Lakes seamen from eligibility for benefits.

Eighteen Republicans joined 73 Democrats to put across the compromise in the House. One Democrat, Rep. John T. Holzemer of Toledo, voted against the bill.

In another busy legislative day as the General Assembly drove toward its final working session July 16, there were these other major developments:

The Senate State Government Committee amended a House-approved bill to modify Ohio's Sunday Blue Laws to exempt business which would serve the public convenience. Rep. Frank J. Gorman (D-Cuyahoga), a sponsor of the bill in the House, asserted the amendment "ruined" the bill. He said it amounted to repealing all the Blue Laws.

The House scheduled a vote today on one of the major bills of the session—a measure to increase the school foundation program through higher minimum salaries for teachers and make other adjustments.

The Senate will vote today on a resolution which would resubmit to voters the metropolitan federa-

Building Code Action Started For Wellsville

First Reading Given To Proposal During Session Of Council

Legislation to establish a building code, a proposal which has been studied for over a year, was given first reading by Wellsville City Council Tuesday night.

The code proposed, with the exception of a few minor changes, is the abbreviated edition of the National Building Code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Atty. Raymond Knepper, city fiscal agent, opposed the legislation from the audience and referred to a possible referendum—a test at the polls requested by citizens.

The Wellsville Community Improvement Council recommended last year that a code be established. Fire Chief Robert Lewis also has been a leader in urging adoption of a code.

The legislation calls for the post of building official to be created by appointment of the mayor. The building official then could appoint inspectors. The building official's salary was set at $25 monthly, with inspectors to receive $2 for each inspection.

The rules cover the construction, alteration, removal, demolition, equipment, use and occupancy, location and maintenance of buildings and structures, including permits and penalties.

The legislation also gives an inspector authority to enter any building under construction or being razed or remodeled at any reasonable time of day. It also sets up a three-member board of appeals, also to be named by the mayor and approved by Council, to be comprised of qualified members of a construction trade.

The appeals board can hold hearings and modify the rules of the code if they feel it is warranted. Two affirmative votes are needed to make an act official. All meetings must be open to the public and all findings must be public, the legislation provides.

The fee for removal or demolition of a building was set at $2. Permit fees for remodeling cost $5 for $100 to $1,000 and $5 plus an additional $2.50 for each additional $1,000 or fraction thereof for projects estimated to cost $1,000 or more.

There is no charge for any project up to $100. Anyone failing to obtain a permit will be charged

Ike Urges Steel Industry And Union To Avoid Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today called on management and workers in the steel wage talks to act for the good of the country and try hard to avoid a strike.

Eisenhower told a news conference that both sides should keep on negotiating just as long as is necessary for agreement on a new contract.

The Steelworkers Union has agreed to hold off on any strike until next Tuesday midnight, but the union president, David J. McDonald, said Tuesday there would be no further extension of the strike deadline.

Eisenhower, in response to a question, said he plans no government intervention.

The President recalled that on June 27 he urged both sides to continue contract talks, without interruption of production, until a new contract had been negotiated.

The union then agreed to extend its July 1 strike deadline until July 14.

Eisenhower noted that he did not suggest simply a two weeks extension, but continuance of the talks until an agreement was reached.

Today, the President said it is a pity that all of us can't proceed on the basic concept of what is good for the country—and not have a strike at all.

He repeated that the union and management should continue negotiations until agreement is reached.

The President also dealt with these other matters in his news conference:

SEGREGATION — Responding to a question, Eisenhower said he believes racial segregation is morally wrong when it interferes with equal opportunity in political and economic fields.

It was the first time since he took office that the President has expressed this specific view on the issue.

In bringing up the matter, a reporter asked whether—apart from the legalistic aspects—the President had any opinion on whether racial segregation is morally wrong.

Eisenhower said he assumed the newsman was talking about segregation under local law. Then he went on to say that where such

Ike Indicates Extra Session On Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower hinted broadly today he might call a special session of Congress if he is denied the authority he wants for foreign aid spending.

Eisenhower was asked at his news conference for comment on the Senate's action in voting to cut his mutual assistance request by 383½ million dollars.

The President said he is going to use all of his persuasive powers in attempting to convince members of Congress they will be ignoring the security of the nation and the vital interests of the free world if they reduce foreign aid too sharply.

In many instances, Eisenhower said, it is possible to get sufficient appropriations later if Congress fails originally to provide enough funds to carry on the program.

The Senate is working on a bill to authorize the expenditure of funds which are to be provided later. This bill in effect sets a ceiling on foreign aid appropriations.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas earlier had spoken out in an effort to

The report lists some of the activities of the council since its organization in 1946.

Among the activities listed are support of the orginal effort to obtain a full - time health commissioner in Columbiana County in 1946-1947 and a rural health survey made in 1947, when nearly 5,000 families — 77 per cent of all families living outside of municipalities — were interviewed.

The council also supported county-wide tuberculosis control programs, helped to develop a school health program, held various public meetings to discuss health and safety topics, supported health and TB levies in the county, organized the Columbiana County Mental Health Association and urged boards of education to require immunization of pupils entering school. The council has elected representatives on the Ohio Rural Health Council.

A survey made by the council in 1957 showed that a third of pre-school children had no polio protection. In another survey, made the same year through the schools and in co-operation with the County Medical Society, it was found that a fourth of the beginning school children had no immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus and were without vaccination for smallpox. Seventy to 80 per cent of the children in the first grades needed more shots for complete immunization.

The council is a large policy-making, planning, advisory, and co-ordinating committee consisting of representatives of organizations, agencies and groups interested in health and safety problems. It also prepared a list of 30 speakers available to speak to local organizations on health topics.

Membership in the group includes 10 to 20 voluntary health agencies, representatives of the school districts and several members at - large and ex-officio members.

Officers are Mrs. Ralph Phillis of Salem, chairman; the Rev. Thomas Hammerton of Lisbon, vice - chairman, and F. H. Bezdek of Lisbon R. D. 5, secretary-treasurer.

The councils next regular quarterly meeting will be July 28.

Vast Manhunt Spreads For Girl's Killer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A vast manhunt spread across two states today for a man whose bloody fingerprints were found beside the raped and knife-slashed body of 6-year-old Dolores Stafford.

Her nude body was found Tuesday in the attic of Robert K. Ervin's Las Vegas home. She had been stabbed in the stomach and her throat had been cut.

Investigators said she apparently died Monday night.

In Kingman, Ariz., police and sheriff's officers guarded the home where Ervin's estranged wife was hiding, in fear for her life.

"Last Thursday he flew at me in a rage and tried to strangle me," said Kathy Ervin, 18.

Judge Continues Woman's Hearing On Drunk Driving

Patrolman M. R. Darrah of Lisbon said he arrested the woman on Route 30 in California Hollow after her car, headed north over the center line, almost hit his cruiser.

He said he pulled into the Pearl China Co. parking lot, then followed her to the Chat 'n Chew Tavern, where she had pulled in to park after again swerving over the center line.

On the stand this morning, she said she was not intoxicated and had only two beers before heading home last night. She said she reluctantly parked at the highway tavern at the urging of a companion in the car.

There's That Old Problem Again

It is unlikely that Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is going to lose his job for saying some of the party's congressional leaders are hurting its vote-getting prospects by being too friendly to the Eisenhower administration.

But Chairman Butler has called attention to an issue in the majority party in Congress that is going to split it wide open in 1960. The two-party system's chronic problem of internal division is about to become acute. The malady that afflicted the Republican half of the system for so long is about to plague the Democratic half.

The Republicans finally got rid of their distress by discovering to their dismay after the congressional election of 1958 that the moderation of President Eisenhower was their only remaining asset. That put an end to the squabble between the party's "progressives" and its reactionaries. The reactionaries moved to the left and the "progressives" moved to the right.

But the Democrats, though they have had plenty of hard experience with their chronic civil rights issue, are still inexperienced with showdowns on moderation.

NO DEMOCRAT will like the sound of "radicalism" to describe the party's alternative to moderation, but no other word will do, under the circumstances. Moderate Democrats in Congress — men like Sen. Johnson and Rep. Rayburn, who are leading the legislative element that is cooperating with the Eisenhower administration on budget-balancing — are being assailed by a radical element that wants to convert New Deal-Fair Deal "creeping socialism" into "galloping socialism."

The radical element wants to do this not only as a matter of principle but as a matter of expediency, in preparation for the 1960 election. Chairman Butler is warning that if congressional Democrats let themselves get a reputation for "me-tooism" they could suffer the same fate that befell Republicans when they went along with the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

But when Republicans were doing that under the leadership of Thomas E. Dewey, they were trying to neutralize the issue that lay between them and the New Deal: that seems to be the reasoning of the Johnson-Rayburn congressional leadership today. They, unlike the Democratic national chairman and members of the Democratic Advisory Council, do not believe there are as many votes to be cornered with radicalism as with moderation.

THE PROBLEM as always is to locate the place where the issue can be joined between the parties.

The Democratic party is sharply divided by both the civil rights issue and the issue of radicalism vs. moderation, with the chairman of its national committee warning that radicalism is the only way to avoid a "me-too" tag in next year's presidential election.

How Long Can It Go On?

Steel Never Had So Many Inspectors

Whatever off-duty activities the steel negotiators have scheduled for the few days remaining before the July 15 strike deadline might well be interrupted for informal discussion of Bernard D. Nossiter's article in the new issue of Harper's Magazine.

It will tell them why they are being watched more closely than any similar group of people in the industrial era. Unless they can prove there is some way out of the cycle of higher wages, higher prices, higher costs and lower buying power for people whose incomes are not geared to this new kind of inflation, government will try to find a way.

As Nossiter explains in his Harper's article —"The Hidden Affair Between Big Business and Big Labor"—men like Karl Marx and Adam Smith never dreamed that business and unionism would end up in an unacknowledged partnership. Yet there is abundant evidence that administered prices and wages have brought them into a partnership which in some industries, such as coal, is acknowledged and in other industries, such as steel, is not yet acknowledged but exists as a kind of working agreement.

Conventional ideas about the cause and cure of inflation have been suspended by new forces that economists all agree are now more important than the traditional forces of demand and supply. Management and labor are the masters of these forces, Nossiter explains, before reaching this conclusion:

"The question now posed is whether these private corporations will be allowed to continue making decisions of vast public consequence without some kind of informed public surveillance."

He does not guess what kind of surveillance this would be. But he makes it plain that government cannot stand to one side indefinitely if the industry that sets the wage-price pace keeps stepping it up. Management and labor will find themselves putting up a common defensive against their critics in Washington.

The New Refuse Site

While any landfill dump site is certain to meet with understandable disapproval from some quarters, the city's purchase of a 27-acre tract in Bloomfield seems to be the logical answer to a major refuse problem.

The present dump, also in St. Clair Township, will be abandoned. It has been a thorn in the side of those who reside nearby since it was established. The protests were loud and they were many.

The lessons learned from the first venture should not be forgotten. From the beginning the city should see to it that regulations required for the proper operation of a landfill are met to the letter.

Bet Your Money On The Pigeons

A three-top panel of crows, sparrows and starlings were discussing the news that pigeons had been admitted to the High-Flying Society of Nuisance Birds, Ohio Aviary 1959.

"The Ohio Legislature is flying pretty high when it adds to our membership without asking our consent," said the starling member of the panel.

"Some of the pigeons I've seen lately are too fat to get this new distinction off the ground," said the crow member.

"I think it's a cheep-cheep trick," said the sparrow member. "People were thinking of us as nuisances while pigeons were still being cooed over by sentimentalists."

The panel moderator, a bird of many feathers, spoke next.

"What do you gentlemen and ladies, for all I can tell, think will be the effect of this legislation, if the governor of Ohio signs it?" he asked.

All three birds tried to reply at once. "You first, Mister or Miss Crow as the case may be," ordered the moderator.

"I think I represent the opinion of all birdbrains," was the reply, "when I say the pigeons have nothing to worry about as a species. They will learn what we have learned. They will thrive on adversity. They will learn how to outwit man in his infinite cruelty and be the better for it. However, in the course of so doing there will be a lot of dead pigeons. The recipe for pigeon pie should sell like 'Lady Chatterly's you-know-what.' But 20 years from now, there will be more young pigeons, old crows, chattering starlings, sparrows and bird-brains than ever."

"How do you figure?" asked the moderator.

"Because birds are smarter at survival than people, that's how," cawed the crow. And would anyone care to bet otherwise?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Eliza's flight across the ice as staged by big-league baseball in New York will have a sequel in a big rescue drama backed by millionaires. Almost five million has been pledged to lift the stigma of a one-ball-team town through a third league.

The new league and new club could have such tough going for a few years that the money could be written off as a tax deduction for charity. But millionaires backing the movement have so much money they can put loss of a fortune in the left-on-bases column and think they've pitched a no-hitter if their investments have been held to 50 per cent loss for a season.

New York is a Disaster Area when two big league clubs have been swept away. Red Cross refused to aid, but the rich have come to the rescue in move to restore the metropolis to its accustomed status.

It means new team, new league, new personalities and new contempt for California.

We figure backers this way: Mrs. Charles Payson, sister of Jock Whitney, the racing stable notable: Gives promise of faster baseball players over sprints or distance and may introduce pitchers coming from bull pen to a box over the steeplechase course.

Dwight Davis, son of the Davis Cup donor: May mean listing of a two-base error as a double-fault: and a world series at Wimbledon or Forest Hills.

Mrs. Dorothy Killain, wealthy Canadian widow: Promises international flavor and a possible team representing the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Donald Grant and George Walker, Jr., stock brokers: Assurance of support by men who like baseball for the long pull and would hold all potential Mickey Mantles for "growth" possibilities.

DEAR HI: I forbade my kid daughter to go to the movie of "Lady Chatterley's Lover." She said I must be crazy, because the U.S. Supreme Court had given her a PASS to it. What goes on here? Jasper H.

The moppet's mixed up. She read the high court ruling (6 to 3) that censorship law barring such pictures was unconstitutional and holding that presentation of adultery idea under certain circumstances was proper! ! ! It's just an idea, said the court and as fully protected as advocacy of single tax or socialism. You're wrong, Jasper, if you thought single tax theme could do moppet more harm than adultery theme. But all you can do is take an aspirin and wonder what next.

Ya mean, Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson, and Patrick Henry ever dreamt of such a theme on movies and TV! ! !

The Yale director of Alcoholic Studies says there's no point in filling a drunk with coffee before he climbs into an auto. It merely produces a wideawake drunk instead of a sleepy one, which can be more dangerous. One half awake and half asleep is a comparative bargain, ya mean!

Sen. Kennedy Analyzes Labor Law

By Victor Riesel

(If there is an anti-rackets bill one man's name will be on it for the rest of our political history. He is Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass), who says that this bill is part of the continuing battle for labor reform. Sen. Kennedy was asked to anaylze his bill. His reply follows.—Victor Riesel.)

By SEN. JOHN F. KENNEDY

There are roughly a half million local union officials in this country, another half million business agents, lawyers and other paid officials and another 750,000 shop stewards and others employed in serving the labor movement.

Victor Riesel

Of these nearly two million labor leaders, the McClellan committee has neither investigated nor received complaints about more than the tiniest fraction — considerably less than one-hundredth of one per cent.

But this tiny fraction interferes with our economic life out of all proportion to its numbers and it must be eliminated completely.

I am convinced the American people want strong, effective but fair legislation. They do not want antilabor legislation but I am sure they will insist upon antiracketeering legislation.

That is why I am confident this Congress will not go home until such a bill has been signed into law. I am equally confident that the American people will not tolerate a political veto of the measure.

The comforting 90-1 vote by which the bill passed the Senate demonstrates that reform legislation can be and should be above partisanship.

THERE IS NO PLACE in this area either for those who would rather have a political issue than a bill or for those who are more concerned about curbing labor at the bargaining table than about curbing racketeers. It is much too important to our national welfare.

Of course, no bill, under our Constitution, can eliminate Jimmy Hoffa. He is entitled to the same rights as every other citizen, including the protection of the Fifth Amendment and trial by jury.

But we can eliminate the evil practices by which he and his associates rose to power—their conflict of interest transactions, their destruction of union books, their manipulation of trusteeships, their rigged elections and conventions, their appointment of ex-convicts as union officials, their use of management middlemen, their use of union funds to build personal financial empires, their private arrangements with employers, their shakedowns and tribute for unloading interstate trucks, their falsification of union reports, their reprisals against honest members and their strong-arm picketing of plants where the union has already lost an election.

IT WILL ENABLE all union members to know how their dues are spent and if they are used to purchase an air - conditioned Cadillac appropriate action can be taken.

It will require minimum standards of union democracy, with elections at regular intervals by secret ballot or by a convention of delegates elected by secret ballot, so that an ambitious Johnny Dio cannot set up a false "paper local" by casting votes in the names of persons who do not even know they are members of the union.

It will bar convicted felons from serving as union officers so that people like Herman Kierdorf can no longer go straight from a prison cell to the position of business agent for the Teamsters.

It will limit and supervise union trusteeships, so that the vice president of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers cannot again appoint himself a trustee of two Chicago locals whose funds he misused on his personal hobbies to the tune of some $40,000 in five years.

It will prohibit loans by either employers or unions to union officers so that the president of the old Bakery Workers would not again be able to borrow heavily from one of the employers to purchase expensive homes in Washington and Palm Beach and then negotiate a substandard union contract with his benefactor without consulting the members of the local.

IT WILL EXPOSE and prevent the undermining of honest unionism through management collusion, middlemen and union-busting techniques.

However, neither the passage of the Kennedy-Ervin Labor Reform bill by the House nor the signature of the President will bring to an end the problem of labor reform. The primary problem, even when the bill goes into full operation, will be one for individual citizens, union members and law enforcement officers.

When conflicts of interest are exposed by the requirements of the bill, honest union members must make the most of that exposure. When the standards of union democracy decreed by the bill are violated, steps must be taken to enforce those standards. If convicted felons seek to force themselves into positions of power and to corrupt a union, the full strength of the law must be directed against them.

If the bill is to accomplish its purpose, it must be administered with scrupulous fairness and justice. This is particularly important in legislation such as this, which is so charged with emotional overtones.

Moreover, when violence, perjury and theft occur in areas not covered by the bill, it is still up to local prosecutors to take appropriate action.

Nor does Congress discharge completely its responsibility with the passage of the bill and the dissolution of the McClellan committee. In about three years Congress should take another look at this problem.

The Labor Committee and the Permanent Investigations subcommittee should determine then whether a new set of investigations is necessary. It would be appropriate, at that time, for the labor legislation subcommittee to determine how the law has operated, what loopholes have been found and what new amendments may be needed.

In addition, and until that time, Congress is responsible for seeing that the administration faithfully, fairly and fully carries out the measure.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I do not agree that summer is just starting, which seems to me to be a ridiculous point of view foisted on people by newspaper writers who confuse "summer solstice" with "summer season."

The truth is that summer has passed its climax and is receding. Labor Day marks the beginning of fall, instead of the autumnal equinox, which does not occur until Sept. 23. The first day of June, or rather the passing of Memorial Day, marks the beginning of summer.

After the summer solstice, the days grow shorter. That is why I always have liked the idea of calling June 24 Midsummer Day, as they do in England. That's where the title of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" came from. There also was a "Midsummer Eve."

But enough of this climatological disputation, which is the most mouth-filling way I can think of to dispose of the subject. I have more important things on my mind at this time.

I am developing a project for the relief of people who write things that no one wants to buy. This always has been a troublesome problem. Because of a surplus supply of writing, many a writer has gone through life with a flat belly. Some have starved outright and been buried at public expense. A great many have turned to some other line of pursuit, such as breaking into banks. A few have turned honest.

I am borrowing the idea for my project from the piling up of agricultural surpluses to take care of the oversupply of wheat, cotton, corn, eggs and butter. What is sauce for the grower should be sauce for the groper; i.e., the looney groping for an idea that makes sense to someone else.

What we need to do is encourage the gropers by buying their surplus wordage and piling it up in a word warehouse — and that's where I intend to make my killing. I have taken leases on a couple of old barns and intend to get into the word-warehouse business.

If the government can be shortsighted enough to fall for this crazy idea, I can be farsighted enough to see my duty and do it. Not only will I make a killing, but I can think of myself as doing it in the name of national security.

Regards to the folks.

Butler's Blunder

By David Lawrence

Democrat Leader Hits Conservatism

Paul M. Butler, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is certainly out of step with the country when he criticizes the Democratic leaders in Congress for steering a course that he regards as too conservative.

David Lawrence

Mr. Butler says this is going to create a "tough situation in 1960" for the Democrats. Political realists do not look at it that way. The nation has come out of the economic recession and isn't interested in the quack remedies that made headlines when so many people were out of work during the 1958 congressional campaign. The Democratic leaders in Congress have accurately sensed the trend and have been adapting themselves to it. The truth is that the next Democratic presidential nominee, in order to win a popular approval, is going to have to be an exponent of what might euphemistically be termed "enlightened conservatism."

The facts of economic life are plair to see. Government bonds are selling at low prices. Interest rates are too low to attract investors. The politicians who emphasize the deficit of nearly 13 billion dollars, which was registered in the fiscal year just ended, are inconsistent in arguing for more spending that will keep the Treasury in red ink continuously.

THE CLEAVAGE in the Democratic party is significant. Speaker Rayburn resents the use of the term "spenders" to characterize the Democratic party but he is unfortunately speaking for only one faction of the party — the conservatives.

Almost simultaneously with the Rayburn pronouncement comes, for instance, the much-publicized report and economic study of Leon Keyserling, who was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers in the Truman administration. It recommends a removal of restraints on spending and measures to keep interest rates low by artificial means.

Mr. Keyserling would increase the budget from the 77 billion dollars recommended by President Eisenhower to 86 billion. No answer is given by Mr. Keyserling as to how the government is going to retain the confidence of the investor public if it keeps on adding to the deficits each year.

Apparently Chairman Butler sides with the Keyserling viewpoint and is criticizing the Democratic leaders because they have not gotten behind bigger spending programs such as are being advocated by the so-called "liberals" in the Democratic party.

Actually, Congress under the Democratic leadership has not gone as far as it could go to stop the excessive spending of the taxpayers' money. Thus, while the Democratic leaders in Congress boast that they have actually reduced the appropriations sought by the President, this is only half the story.

AS SEN. HARRY BYRD (D-Va), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, pointed out a few days ago, there has been a lot of "backdoor" spending which has not gotten the attention it deserves. The Virginia senator said:

"Subject to further amendment to bills not finally enacted, I am advised that congressional action on spending bills to date would authorize federal expenditures exceeding administration requests by 608 million."

Sen. Byrd referred specifically to a review by Tax Foundation, Inc., which covers all spending authorizations, appropriations and other spending on which any action has been taken between the beginning of the current session of Congress and July 1. This includes proposed authorizations that involve commitments for future years, too.

"In terms of appropriation bills alone, in their present status," continues Mr. Byrd, "the review shows a reduction of 298 million under administration requests but in terms of backdoor spending authorizations outside of the appropriation process, the review shows an increase of 906 million over administration requests. The net increase would be 608 million, subject to further action on pending bills."

There is little doubt that President Eisenhower's crusade in recent months for a balanced budget and a sound dollar has caught on throughout the country and just as Speaker Rayburn and his colleague, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, were beginning to "point with pride" to their accomplishments, along comes Democratic Chairman Butler to "view with alarm."

SMALL WONDER that Sen. Mike Mansfield, of Montana, who is the Democratic whip in the Senate, resents the attack by Mr. Butler and exclaims, "We'll have a tough time in 1960 under any circumstances but the chairman of the Democratic National Committee finding fault with the Democratic leadership is not going to help the party one bit."

The fact, of course, is that Chairman Butler sincerely believes that an opposition party should in the main oppose what the administration does.

While this may be good theory in politics, sometimes it doesn't help at the polls to favor an economic program that could cause prices and the cost of living to skyrocket as the dollar drops in purchasing power.

There must be better issues for the Democrats than this in other fields and certainly on the economic side they can't expect to rock the boat of a growing prosperity and gain votes thereby. The Republicans could have no better issue and could win an election by hammering home the fear of a "change" in helmsmen at Washington.

Letter To The Editor

I am writing as the operator of the Fox Nursing Home in Chester.

Quite a while back, one old man, now deceased, expressed a desire to see "one of those machines you put money in and a drink comes out of".

To his extreme surprise and pleasure, we installed at that time a soft drink machine in their dining room. As it turned out, not only he but all of those who could possibly walk to the machine seemed to get immense pleasure out of getting a bottle of pop. It wasn't the drink in itself, as similar beverages when served to them, would be left untouched. Perhaps it was some small feeling of independence they gained from being able to select and pay for something they wanted rather than having it given to them. Whatever it was, however, it had the same effect on all of them, but only when they could get it for themselves.

Since that time we kept the machine and the small profits made from it went into a special fund to help furnish the little extras for those who were without other means. Some of it was used to give them a little money of their own. This, in time, turned up again and again in the machine.

Now, however, these old people may lose their machine and the pleasure it gave them, as the law insists that because I did not buy a license for this machine it will be removed and I will be fined for violating the law.

Rather than see them deprived of their machine, I would have bought the license, had I not first been made to feel like a criminal, because I felt that since the machine was not a profit - making device I should not be forced to buy the license, as such licenses are issued for such machines when they are used in business establishments for profit.

Mine was for the home and of no personal profit to me at all. I am protesting here not because of the expense of the license but rather because of the interpretation of the law which permitted my arrest for the use of an unlicensed machine when its use was of no profit to me personally; while at the same time here in this very town can be found slot machines and other gambling devices, whose sole use is for profit, and yet they are permitted to operate unchallenged, as is also the sale of liquor over the bar in many establishments. It seems to me that those who enforce the law should be more concerned over these than with a soft-drink machine.

If there is anyone interested or who doubts my sincerity in this matter enough to see for himself, I will personally show him through the home, let him see for himself that the machine was not a profit-making device but rather as I have stated to give a little pleasure to those who have so few pleasures left and so little time to enjoy them.

Then after he has seen for himself, I will, perhaps, buy him a drink, over the bar, here in a town where it is apparently more illegal to own a coke machine without a license than it is to sell liquor without one. Or perhaps it was easier to find one lone, unlicensed, soft - drink machine in a home for the aged than it was to walk into any of the many taverns along the main street.

There's That Old Problem Again

It is unlikely that Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is going to lose his job for saying some of the party's congressional leaders are hurting its vote-getting prospects by being too friendly to the Eisenhower administration.

But Chairman Butler has called attention to an issue in the majority party in Congress that is going to split it wide open in 1960. The two-party system's chronic problem of internal division is about to become acute. The malady that afflicted the Republican half of the system for so long is about to plague the Democratic half.

The Republicans finally got rid of their distress by discovering to their dismay after the congressional election of 1958 that the moderation of President Eisenhower was their only remaining asset. That put an end to the squabble between the party's "progressives" and its reactionaries. The reactionaries moved to the left and the "progressives" moved to the right.

But the Democrats, though they have had plenty of hard experience with their chronic civil rights issue, are still inexperienced with showdowns on moderation.

NO DEMOCRAT will like the sound of "radicalism" to describe the party's alternative to moderation, but no other word will do, under the circumstances. Moderate Democrats in Congress — men like Sen. Johnson and Rep. Rayburn, who are leading the legislative element that is cooperating with the Eisenhower administration on budget-balancing — are being assailed by a radical element that wants to convert New Deal-Fair Deal "creeping socialism" into "galloping socialism."

The radical element wants to do this not only as a matter of principle but as a matter of expediency, in preparation for the 1960 election. Chairman Butler is warning that if congressional Democrats let themselves get a reputation for "me-tooism" they could suffer the same fate that befell Republicans when they went along with the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman.

But when Republicans were doing that under the leadership of Thomas E. Dewey, they were trying to neutralize the issue that lay between them and the New Deal; that seems to be the reasoning of the Johnson-Rayburn congressional leadership today. They, unlike the Democratic national chairman and members of the Democratic Advisory Council, do not believe there are as many votes to be cornered with radicalism as with moderation.

THE PROBLEM as always is to locate the place where the issue can be joined between the parties.

The Democratic party is sharply divided by both the civil rights issue and the issue of radicalism vs. moderation, with the chairman of its national committee warning that radicalism is the only way to avoid a "me-too" tag in next year's presidential election.

How Long Can It Go On?

Butler's Blunder

By David Lawrence

Democrat Leader Hits Conservatism

Paul M. Butler, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is certainly out of step with the country when he criticizes the Democratic leaders in Congress for steering a course that he regards as too conservative.

David Lawrence

Mr. Butler says this is going to create a "tough situation in 1960" for the Democrats. Political realists do not look at it that way. The nation has come out of the economic recession and isn't interested in the quack remedies that made headlines when so many people were out of work during the 1958 congressional campaign. The Democratic leaders in Congress have accurately sensed the trend and have been adapting themselves to it. The truth is that the next Democratic presidential nominee, in order to win a popular approval, is going to have to be an exponent of what might euphemistically be termed "enlightened conservatism."

The facts of economic life are plair to see. Government bonds are selling at low prices. Interest rates are too low to attract investors. The politicians who emphasize the deficit of nearly 13 billion dollars, which was registered in the fiscal year just ended, are inconsistent in arguing for more spending that will keep the Treasury in red ink continuously.

THE CLEAVAGE in the Democratic party is significant. Speaker Rayburn resents the use of the term "spenders" to characterize the Democratic party but he is unfortunately speaking for only one faction of the party — the conservatives.

Almost simultaneously with the Rayburn pronouncement comes, for instance, the much-publicized report and economic study of Leon Keyserling, who was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers in the Truman administration. It recommends a removal of restraints on spending and measures to keep interest rates low by artificial means.

Mr. Keyserling would increase the budget from the 77 billion dollars recommended by President Eisenhower to 86 billion. No answer is given by Mr. Keyserling as to how the government is going to retain the confidence of the investor public if it keeps on adding to the deficits each year.

Apparently Chairman Butler sides with the Keyserling viewpoint and is criticizing the Democratic leaders because they have not gotten behind bigger spending programs such as are being advocated by the so-called "liberals" in the Democratic party.

Actually, Congress under the Democratic leadership has not gone as far as it could go to stop the excessive spending of the taxpayers' money. Thus, while the Democratic leaders in Congress boast that they have actually reduced the appropriations sought by the President, this is only half the story.

AS SEN. HARRY BYRD (D-Va), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, pointed out a few days ago, there has been a lot of "backdoor" spending which has not gotten the attention it deserves. The Virginia senator said:

"Subject to further amendment to bills not finally enacted, I am advised that congressional action on spending bills to date would authorize federal expenditures exceeding administration requests by 608 million."

Sen. Byrd referred specifically to a review by Tax Foundation, Inc., which covers all spending authorizations, appropriations and other spending on which any action has been taken between the beginning of the current session of Congress and July 1. This includes proposed authorizations that involve commitments for future years, too.

"In terms of appropriation bills alone, in their present status," continues Mr. Byrd, "the review shows a reduction of 298 million under administration requests but in terms of backdoor spending authorizations outside of the appropriation process, the review shows an increase of 906 million over administration requests. The net increase would be 608 million, subject to further action on pending bills."

There is little doubt that President Eisenhower's crusade in recent months for a balanced budget and a sound dollar has caught on throughout the country and just as Speaker Rayburn and his colleague, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, were beginning to "point with pride" to their accomplishments, along comes Democratic Chairman Butler to "view with alarm."

SMALL WONDER that Sen. While this may be good theory in politics, sometimes it doesn't help at the polls to favor an economic program that could cause prices and the cost of living to skyrocket as the dollar drops in purchasing power.

There must be better issues for the Democrats than this in other fields and certainly on the economic side they can't expect to rock the boat of a growing prosperity and gain votes thereby. The Republicans could have no better issue and could win an election by hammering home the fear of a "change" in helmsmen at Washington.

Steel Never Had So Many Inspectors

Whatever off-duty activities the steel negotiators have scheduled for the few days remaining before the July 15 strike deadline might well be interrupted for informal discussion of Bernard D. Nossiter's article in the new issue of Harper's Magazine.

It will tell them why they are being watched more closely than any similar group of people in the industrial era. Unless they can prove there is some way out of the cycle of higher wages, higher prices, higher costs and lower buying power for people whose incomes are not geared to this new kind of inflation, government will try to find a way.

As Nossiter explains in his Harper's article —"The Hidden Affair Between Big Business and Big Labor"—men like Karl Marx and Adam Smith never dreamed that business and unionism would end up in an unacknowledged partnership. Yet there is abundant evidence that administered prices and wages have brought them into a partnership which in some industries, such as coal, is acknowledged and in other industries, such as steel, is not yet acknowledged but exists as a kind of working agreement.

Conventional ideas about the cause and cure of inflation have been suspended by new forces that economists all agree are now more important than the traditional forces of demand and supply. Management and labor are the masters of these forces, Nossiter explains, before reaching this conclusion:

"The question now posed is whether these private corporations will be allowed to continue making decisions of vast public consequence without some kind of informed public surveillance."

He does not guess what kind of surveillance this would be. But he makes it plain that government cannot stand to one side indefinitely if the industry that sets the wage-price pace keeps stepping it up. Management and labor will find themselves putting up a common defensive against their critics in Washington.

The New Refuse Site

While any landfill dump site is certain to meet with understandable disapproval from some quarters, the city's purchase of a 27-acre tract in Bloomfield seems to be the logical answer to a major refuse problem.

The present dump, also in St. Clair Township, will be abandoned. It has been a thorn in the side of those who reside nearby since it was established. The protests were loud and they were many.

The lessons learned from the first venture should not be forgotten. From the beginning the city should see to it that regulations required for the proper operation of a landfill are met to the letter.

Bet Your Money On The Pigeons

A three-top panel of crows, sparrows and starlings were discussing the news that pigeons had been admitted to the High-Flying Society of Nuisance Birds, Ohio Aviary 1959.

"The Ohio Legislature is flying pretty high when it adds to our membership without asking our consent," said the starling member of the panel.

"Some of the pigeons I've seen lately are too fat to get this new distinction off the ground," said the crow member.

"I think it's a cheep-cheep trick," said the sparrow member. "People were thinking of us as nuisances while pigeons were still being cooed over by sentimentalists."

The panel moderator, a bird of many feathers, spoke next.

"What do you gentlemen and ladies, for all I can tell, think will be the effect of this legislation, if the governor of Ohio signs it?" he asked.

All three birds tried to reply at once. "You first, Mister or Miss Crow as the case may be," ordered the moderator.

"I think I represent the opinion of all birdbrains," was the reply, "when I say the pigeons have nothing to worry about as a species. They will learn what we have learned. They will thrive on adversity. They will learn how to outwit man in his infinite cruelty and be the better for it. However, in the course of so doing there will be a lot of dead pigeons. The recipe for pigeon pie should sell like 'Lady Chatterly's you-know-what.' But 20 years from now, there will be more young pigeons, old crows, chattering starlings, sparrows and bird-brains than ever."

"How do you figure?" asked the moderator.

"Because birds are smarter at survival than people, that's how," cawed the crow. And would anyone care to bet otherwise?

Sen. Kennedy Analyzes Labor Law

By Victor Riesel

(If there is an anti-rackets bill one man's name will be on it for the rest of our political history. He is Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass), who says that this bill is part of the continuing battle for labor reform. Sen. Kennedy was asked to anaylze his bill. His reply follows.—Victor Riesel.)

By SEN. JOHN F. KENNEDY

There are roughly a half million local union officials in this country, another half million business agents, lawyers and other paid officials and another 750,000 shop stewards and others employed in serving the labor movement.

Victor Riesel

Of these nearly two million labor leaders, the McClellan committee has neither investigated nor received complaints about more than the tiniest fraction — considerably less than one-hundredth of one per cent.

But this tiny fraction interferes with our economic life out of all proportion to its numbers and it must be eliminated completely.

I am convinced the American people want strong, effective but fair legislation. They do not want antilabor legislation but I am sure they will insist upon antiracketeering legislation.

That is why I am confident this Congress will not go home until such a bill has been signed into law. I am equally confident that the American people will not tolerate a political veto of the measure.

The comforting 90-1 vote by which the bill passed the Senate demonstrates that reform legislation can be and should be above partisanship.

THERE IS NO PLACE in this area either for those who would rather have a political issue than a bill or for those who are more concerned about curbing labor at the bargaining table than about curbing racketeers. It is much too important to our national welfare.

Of course, no bill, under our Constitution, can eliminate Jimmy Hoffa. He is entitled to the same rights as every other citizen, including the protection of the Fifth Amendment and trial by jury.

But we can eliminate the evil practices by which he and his associates rose to power—their conflict of interest transactions, their destruction of union books, their manipulation of trusteeships, their rigged elections and conventions, their appointment of ex-convicts as union officials, their use of management middlemen, their use of union funds to build personal financial empires, their private arrangements with employers, their shakedowns and tribute for unloading interstate trucks, their falsification of union reports, their reprisals against honest members and their strong-arm picketing of plants where the union has already lost an election.

IT WILL ENABLE all union members to know how their dues are spent and if they are used to purchase an air - conditioned Cadillac appropriate action can be taken.

It will require minimum standards of union democracy, with elections at regular intervals by secret ballot or by a convention of delegates elected by secret ballot, so that an ambitious Johnny Dio cannot set up a false "paper local" by casting votes in the names of persons who do not even know they are members of the union.

It will bar convicted felons from serving as union officers so that people like Herman Kierdorf can no longer go straight from a prison cell to the position of business agent for the Teamsters.

It will limit and supervise union trusteeships, so that the vice president of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers cannot again appoint himself a trustee of two Chicago locals whose funds he misused on his personal hobbies to the tune of some $40,000 in five years.

It will prohibit loans by either employers or unions to union officers so that the president of the old Bakery Workers would not again be able to borrow heavily from one of the employers to purchase expensive homes in Washington and Palm Beach and then negotiate a substandard union contract with his benefactor without consulting the members of the local.

IT WILL EXPOSE and prevent the undermining of honest unionism through management collusion, middlemen and union-busting techniques.

However, neither the passage of the Kennedy-Ervin Labor Reform bill by the House nor the signature of the President will bring to an end the problem of labor reform. The primary problem, even when the bill goes into full operation, will be one for individual citizens, union members and law enforcement officers.

When conflicts of interest are exposed by the requirements of the bill, honest union members must make the most of that exposure. When the standards of union democracy decreed by the bill are violated, steps must be taken to enforce those standards. If convicted felons seek to force themselves into positions of power and to corrupt a union, the full strength of the law must be directed against them.

If the bill is to accomplish its purpose, it must be administered with scrupulous fairness and justice. This is particularly important in legislation such as this, which is so charged with emotional overtones.

Moreover, when violence, perjury and theft occur in areas not covered by the bill, it is still up to local prosecutors to take appropriate action.

Nor does Congress discharge completely its responsibility with the passage of the bill and the dissolution of the McClellan committee. In about three years Congress should take another look at this problem.

The Labor Committee and the Permanent Investigations subcommittee should determine then whether a new set of investigations is necessary. It would be appropriate, at that time, for the labor legislation subcommittee to determine how the law has operated, what loopholes have been found and what new amendments may be needed.

In addition, and until that time, Congress is responsible for seeing that the administration faithfully, fairly and fully carries out the measure.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I do not agree that summer is just starting, which seems to me to be a ridiculous point of view foisted on people by newspaper writers who confuse "summer solstice" with "summer season."

The truth is that summer has passed its climax and is receding. Labor Day marks the beginning of fall, instead of the autumnal equinox, which does not occur until Sept. 23. The first day of June, or rather the passing of Memorial Day, marks the beginning of summer.

After the summer solstice, the days grow shorter. That is why I always have liked the idea of calling June 24 Midsummer Day, as they do in England. That's where the title of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" came from. There also was a "Midsummer Eve."

But enough of this climatological disputation, which is the most mouth-filling way I can think of to dispose of the subject. I have more important things on my mind at this time.

I am developing a project for the relief of people who write things that no one wants to buy. This always has been a troublesome problem. Because of a surplus supply of writing, many a writer has gone through life with a flat belly. Some have starved outright and been buried at public expense. A great many have turned to some other line of pursuit, such as breaking into banks. A few have turned honest.

I am borrowing the idea for my project from the piling up of agricultural surpluses to take care of the oversupply of wheat, cotton, corn, eggs and butter. What is sauce for the grower should be sauce for the groper; i.e., the looney groping for an idea that makes sense to someone else.

What we need to do is encourage the gropers by buying their surplus wordage and piling it up in a word warehouse — and that's where I intend to make my killing. I have taken leases on a couple of old barns and intend to get into the word-warehouse business.

If the government can be shortsighted enough to fall for this crazy idea, I can be farsighted enough to see my duty and do it. Not only will I make a killing, but I can think of myself as doing it in the name of national security.

Regards to the folks.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Eliza's flight across the ice as staged by big-league baseball in New York will have a sequel in a big rescue drama backed by millionaires. Almost five million has been pledged to lift the stigma of a one-ball-team town through a third league.

The new league and new club could have such tough going for a few years that the money could be written off as a tax deduction for charity. But millionaires backing the movement have so much money they can put loss of a fortune in the left-on-bases column and think they've pitched a no-hitter if their investments have been held to 50 per cent loss for a season.

New York is a Disaster Area when two big league clubs have been swept away, Red Cross refused to aid, but the rich have come to the rescue in move to restore the metropolis to its accustomed status.

It means new team, new league, new personalities and new contempt for California.

We figure backers this way: Mrs. Charles Payson, sister of Jock Whitney, the racing stable notable: Gives promise of faster baseball players over sprints or distance and may introduce pitchers coming from bull pen to a box over the steeplechase course.

Dwight Davis, son of the Davis Cup donor: May mean listing of a two-base error as a double-fault: and a world series at Wimbledon or Forest Hills.

Mrs. Dorothy Killain, wealthy Canadian widow: Promises international flavor and a possible team representing the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Donald Grant and George Walker, Jr., stock brokers: Assurance of support by men who like baseball for the long pull and would hold all potential Mickey Mantles for "growth" possibilities.

DEAR HI: I forbade my kid daughter to go to the movie of "Lady Chatterley's Lover." She said I must be crazy, because the U.S. Supreme Court had given her a PASS to it. What goes on here? Jasper H.

The moppet's mixed up. She read the high court ruling (6 to 3) that censorship law barring such pictures was unconstitutional and holding that presentation of adultery idea under certain circumstances was proper! ! ! It's just an idea, said the court and as fully protected as advocacy of single tax or socialism. You're wrong, Jasper, if you thought single tax theme could do moppet more harm than adultery theme. But all you can do is take an aspirin and wonder what next.

Ya mean, Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson, and Patrick Henry ever dreamt of such a theme on movies and TV! ! !

The Yale director of Alcoholic Studies says there's no point in filling a drunk with coffee before he climbs into an auto. It merely produces a wideawake drunk instead of a sleepy one, which can be more dangerous. One half awake and half asleep is a comparative bargain, ya mean!

with a misdemeanor. The fine for a violation was set at $10 to $100 and up to six months in prison, or both.

The legislation reads that it will go into effect 60 days after final passage by Council.

Knepper said that a public hearing should be held to let people know the restrictions and give them the right to oppose the measure.

"The legislation is a restriction on people's liberties," he said.

He said a code will prevent many from doing their own remodeling work and that it will have to be done by contractors. This will push the cost of new homes up 10 to 20 per cent and will freeze progress, he said.

"I propose a referendum to allow people to vote on whether or not they want a code," he said.

Myron Weis, Council president, pointed out to Knepper that the legislation was only placed on first reading and does not go into immediate effect. Anyone wanting to oppose the measure will be given an ample chance to do so, he said.

Solicitor William Bush said Council has been studying the program for quite awhile. Many public meetings were held, but Knepper was never present, although he was invited, he said.

Expert advice was obtained from the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the Ohio Inspection Bureau, Bush continued. The code will help improve properties and will not have an adverse effect on building, he said. It gives certain specifications that the builder must follow, he said.

Knepper addressed Council again after Bush spoke and said he does not think that Council should permit personalities to be brought into discussions. He then said the move was initiated by a few individuals.

Councilman Richard Brown remarked that the code is to protect the city of Wellsville and the residents. It definitely will improve the city, he said.

Councilman Ancel Moore said it will make a much better city and concluded by saying "it should have been done a long time ago."

Weis remarked the code probably will discourage gyp furnace and siding salesmen from operating in the town.

All members present voted favorably on first reading. Councilman Robert Taggart was the only member absent.

tion constitutional amendment defeated by the voters last November when it appeared on the same ballot with the ill-fated, so-called "right-to-work" amendment.

Also on today's Senate calendar is a House-approved bill to reorganize the state Liquor Department and board and give the director broader authority.

The Senate Tuesday completed legislative action on House-approved bills to:

Make permanent the utility excise tax which helps finance poor relief spending throughout the state.

Require the signatures of purchasers of narcotics and establish a penalty for treating substances to increase narcotic content.

Create the Magee Marsh hunting area in Ottawa and Lucas counties and require a special $5 fee to hunt on it.

Modernize Ohio's pharmacy law and create internships rather than apprenticeships for druggists in training.

Provide a special $25 license fee for idle church and school buses used by youth groups for summer camp transportation.

Authorize the highway director to increase or decrease any one item in a contract up to $5,000 in an emergency.

Permit the extension of municipal university taxing districts to counties, villages and school districts outside a city. The bill applies only to Lucas, Summit and Hamilton counties.

Senate Republicans from Hamilton County, in the wake of a hassle over the sales tax omnibus bill, offered a resolution which would have the Senate call upon the attorney general for an opinion. It would be on the question of whether a bill can be effective if it is signed by the presiding officer of either House without a quorum of that house being present.

Cincinnati Republicans contend Lt. Gov. John Donahey signed the sales tax bill while only five senators—12 fewer than a quorum—were on the Senate floor.

Both Senate and House agreed to discharge a conference committee on the scooter bill which had not been able to resolve the differences between the two Houses. A new committee was not named immediately. The bill would deny motor scooter operator licenses to 14 and 15-year-olds.

It was a rough day in the House, in addition to the key compromise on the unemployment compensation issue. For the second straight night, the floor session lasted until 12:30 p. m., EDT.

In addition to defeating three relatively minor measures, including one to give cities power to take quick possession of real estate needed for improvements, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to create an Ohio Real Estate Commission.

The House completed legislative action on a Senate bill to allow funeral directors a priority of $500 in the settlement of an estate. The present amount is $300.

The House scheduled both afternoon and evening sessions today to clean up an 18-bill calendar. The Senate has 20 bills on its calendar, but has made no announcement on plans for an evening session.

The House Democrats planned an 11 a.m. caucus today to discuss a pending bill to increase benefits under the workmen's compensation law.

Eisenhower said if the authorization is reduced to the point where he can't go back to Congress next year for what he considers sufficient funds to carry out the program, he will have only one other recourse. He said that would be to call a special session.

Eisenhower said vigorously he is never going to give up the fight for the foreign aid program.

Johnson appealed to senators of both parties to stop additional cuts.

The Democratic leader told his colleagues they should not gamble with the nation's security, and should refuse to make any more cuts in the big measure. It was trimmed by 383½ million dollars Tuesday night.

Johnson asked the Republicans to "rally their troops as a body" and expressed hope that there would be many Democrats who felt as he did and would join in defeating further cuts.

The President was rebuffed twice Tuesday as the Senate voted cuts in the amounts Eisenhower had asked both for military aid and for economic help to arms pact allies which supply large numbers of armed forces.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) said he would seek roll call votes on other amendments to cut funds in the program.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the majority leader, said he hoped to get final passage of the whittled-down measure during the day.

The Senate voted 52-41 to cut 300 million dollars from the $1,600,000,000 Eisenhower asked for arms aid to America's free world allies.

Then it adopted by a vote of 49-43 a second amendment slashing 83½ millions from the 835 millions Eisenhower said was essential for economic defense supports for armed allies this year.

But Eisenhower won a possible victory for the future on a 56-37 vote to provide permanent authorization for future military aid funds instead of the year-to-year action now required. The actual money requests then would go to congressional appropriations committees.

Eisenhower had asked such a change. The Senate approved a similar provision two years ago, but the House rejected it. House acceptance would be needed if the change is made this year.

As the Senate resumed work on the measure today, it carried $3,543,320,000 against the $3,909,400,000 Eisenhower asked and the $3,542,600,000 voted by the House.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) won acceptance of an amendment to authorize the President to spend up to two million dollars for international health projects.

Forty Democrats joined with 12 Republicans to cut military aid by 300 million dollars, with only 19 Democrats joining 22 Republicans in opposing it.

Forty-one Democrats joined eight Republicans in voting the 83½ million dollar cut in defense supports with 18 Democrats and 25 Republicans backing the President.

Legion's Membership At Midland Totals 442

A membership of 442 was announced by Truman Rodfong, adjutant, at a meeting of Midland American Legion Post 481 Monday night in the post home.

The post will send five delegates to the state convention July 15-18 in Pittsburgh. Delegates are Edward P. Cilli, Donald E. Roach, Woodrow Jones, John W. Reider, commander - elect, and Rodfong.

The next meeting will feature installation of officers Aug. 31. Only one meeting a month is held during July and August, Rodfong said.

with a misdemeanor. The fine for a violation was set at $10 to $100 and up to six months in prison, or both.

The legislation reads that it will go into effect 60 days after final passage by Council.

Knepper said that a public hearing should be held to let people know the restrictions and give them the right to oppose the measure.

"The legislation is a restriction on people's liberties," he said.

He said a code will prevent many from doing their own remodeling work and that it will have to be done by contractors. This will push the cost of new homes up 10 to 20 per cent and will freeze progress, he said.

"I propose a referendum to allow people to vote on whether or not they want a code," he said.

Myron Weis, Council president, pointed out to Knepper that the legislation was only placed on first reading and does not go into immediate effect. Anyone wanting to oppose the measure will be given an ample chance to do so, he said.

Solicitor William Bush said Council has been studying the program for quite awhile. Many public meetings were held, but Knepper was never present, although he was invited, he said.

Expert advice was obtained from the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the Ohio Inspection Bureau, Bush continued. The code will help improve properties and will not have an adverse effect on building, he said. It gives certain specifications that the builder must follow, he said.

Knepper addressed Council again after Bush spoke and said he does not think that Council should permit personalities to be brought into discussions. He then said the move was initiated by a few individuals.

Councilman Richard Brown remarked that the code is to protect the city of Wellsville and the residents. It definitely will improve the city, he said.

Councilman Ancel Moore said it will make a much better city and concluded by saying "it should have been done a long time ago."

Weis remarked the code probably will discourage gyp furnace and siding salesmen from operating in the town.

Tells 7 American Governors

Khrushchev Says Soviet And U.S. Hold Peace Key

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev told seven American governors Tuesday that friendship between the United States and the Soviet Union is the key to world peace.

Kruschev said the Soviet Union "wants peace with all nations, but above all with the biggest and strongest—the United States of America.

"If there is friendship between us, there can never be war," the Soviet Premier declared in a 3-hour and 45-minute talk in the Kremlin with the U.S. state executives touring the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev said if another nation started a war, the Soviet Union and the United States together could halt it.

"But if the United States and the Soviet Union are ever in a conflict," he continued, "the result would be terrible calamity, because if we fight, no force on earth could ever halt us."

Later in the talk, Khrushchev stood fast on Soviet demands for Germany and Berlin which the Western Allies have repeatedly rejected. He said both West and East Germany should be recognized and normal relations established, and that West Berlin should be made a free city guaranteed by all countries and the United Nations.

Asked by Gov. Stephen McNichols of Colorado why not allow the German people to decide their future in a free, all-German election, Khrushchev said the East Germans don't want to see an end to their achievements and neither do the West Germans. He added that the East Germans won't give up their constitution.

Khrushchev said Soviet attempts to catch up with U.S. production "won't be depriving you of anything" — that increased Soviet production won't decrease American output.

"I have heard some complaints about our attempts to catch up with the United States," he continued. "We do want to catch up. You want to eat a lot only for yourselves, and that is a selfish approach.

"You have a rich, big strong country. And we want to be like you in that respect."

Council Clears Handrail Job On Low Offer

NEW CUMBERLAND — Town Council Tuesday night awarded a contract to the Williams Welding Co. of Weirton for repair of handrails on all steps maintained by the community.

The firm entered a bid of $253.-22 for repairs on four pairs of stairs. The Albino Co. of Weirton submitted a bid of $317.40.

In other action, it was announced that the community's water customers will be without service Friday night while crews flush the lines from the reservoir. Flushing will be completed by Elmer Bailey, fire chief, and Gerald Rainey, maintenance supervisor. Work will be started late Friday night and service is expected to be restored early Saturday.

Mrs. Wagner submitted a report of the town's budget for the 1958-59 fiscal year to be studied by Council before laying a levy and approving the budget for the 1959-60 fiscal year.

Council also agreed to meet with Charles Gates, a Follansbee engineer, to discuss permanent repairs to streets and alleys.

Blair Geho, a representative of the Kessler Tank Co. of Fremont, spoke to Council about possibilities for contracting to painting steel water tanks.

Ike

segregation interferes with equal opportunity in economic and political fields, it is—in his opinion—morally wrong.

Esenhower, in his reply, made no mention of segregation in education.

KHRUSHCHEV — Eisenhower said he does not regard a visit to this country by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as beyond the realm of possibility.

He spoke, however, of the difficulties he said such a visit would present if the purpose were talks regarding international problems.

If, on the other hand, such a visit were simply ceremonial, then the matter of what kind of reception Khrushchev would get in this country would be the only factor, he said.

Eisenhower was told that Khrushchev again has spoken of the possibility of the President visiting Russia. The President replied that this was the first he had heard of the latest Khrushchev overture. For that reason, he said, he has not reached any conclusion. He went on to say that such a visit, too, also raises several questions.

For example, he said, the United States is a member of an international group of nations—an obvious reference to NATO and the United Nations. Those nations work together for peace, he said.

In substance, Eisenhower thus ruled out any visits by himself or Khrushchev which could be construed as efforts by the Soviet Union and the United States to settle international problems without participation by other nations whose interest were involved.

HARRIMAN—The President hit indirectly at Khrushchev in expressing amazement—if not disbelief—regarding remarks attributed to the Soviet Premier by former Gov. W. Averell Harriman of New York.

A reporter said that Harriman, in an article in Life magazine about his recent talk with Khrushchev, quoted the Soviet leader as saying that if the United States wants war, "you can have it."

Asked what he thinks about that kind of talk, Eisenhower replied that he believes responsible people should not indulge in any sort of talk which could be regarded as amounting to an ultimatum or threat.

DE GAULLE — As for the U.S. announcement today that this country is pulling three fighter-bomber wings out of France, Eisenhower said he and French President Charles de Gaulle have long agreed that when they can get together they will talk over all differences between the two countries.

The wings are being moved from French bases because De Gaulle will not agree to storing U.S. atomic weapons on French soil.

Eisenhower said he and De Gaulle, in talking about the possibility of a meeting in the future, never have singled out that particular issue. But the President left no doubt it would be discussed if they should meet.

Roving Reporter Talks For Wellsville Kiwanis

Stu Wilson, the "Roving Reporter" of television station WKBN at Youngstown, discussed lore of the Ohio River in a talk Tuesday before the Wellsville Kiwanis Club at Piatt's Tea Room.

Wilson also discussed the proposed sale of the showboat Majestic, which was operated for many years by Hiram College. He said a private group is attempting to raise funds for the purchase. It then will attempt to operate the showboat on the rivers, he said.

Man, 77, Hurt In City Mishap While On Foot

A 77-year-old Jefferson St. man was injured when struck by a car on W. 6th St. Tuesday night and three cars were damaged on W. 9th St. in an early morning mishap in which a city motorist was cited for leaving the scene of an accident and driving while intoxicated.

William Raybon, 514 Jefferson St., was treated at City Hospital for bruises and abrasions of the scalp suffered at 10:20 p. m. when he was hit by a car at Jefferson and W. 6th Sts.

Police said the auto, driven by Lawrence B. McHenry, 75, of Barbourville, W. Va., was turning left from Jefferson when the mishap occurred. McHenry told officers he did not see the pedestrian until he was only a few feet away.

Jack Johnston, 39, of 110½ Summit Ln. was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail for driving while intoxicated and $25 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident at a hearing this morning before Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw.

Johnston was cited about 3 a. m. today after his car struck two parked autos on W. 9th St. west of May St., police said.

His 1952 sedan hit a parked 1950 sedan owned by Eunice Long, 519 W. 9th St., and a 1958 coupe owned by Robert Rickey, 810½ Lisbon St., damaging the left sides of all three autos, officers reported.

Johnston's license was suspended for six months by Judge Brokaw. He faces further loss of his license with the compiling of six points each on the two violations, making a total of 12 points in the state traffic point system for which a driver is deprived of his operating privileges.

Minor damage resulted from a collision between a car driven by Henry Greenwood, 66, of 708 Bradshaw Ave. and a truck operated by Giles Webster, 57, of Flint, Mich., on W. 6th St. yesterday afternoon at 5:37.

Greenwood told police he was headed east on 6th St. at Broadway on the outside lane when the truck—on the inside lane and also driving east—turned into the outside lane and hit the right bumper of the auto.

Australian Tugs Heads For Actor's Yacht

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — An Australian navy tug today steamed toward Hollywood actor-magician John Calvert's yacht Sea Fox, which has been sending out distress calls from off Australia's north coast.

An Australian air force bomber reported it had spotted the missing yacht 90 miles northwest of Cape Wessel.

The pilot said the yacht seemed in no immediate danger.

Tells 7 American Governors

Khrushchev Says Soviet And U.S. Hold Peace Key

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev told seven American governors Tuesday that friendship between the United States and the Soviet Union is the key to world peace.

Kruschev said the Soviet Union "wants peace with all nations, but above all with the biggest and strongest—the United States of America.

"If there is friendship between us, there can never be war," the Soviet Premier declared in a 3-hour and 45-minute talk in the Kremlin with the U.S. state executives touring the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev said if another nation started a war, the Soviet Union and the United States together could halt it.

"But if the United States and the Soviet Union are ever in a conflict," he continued, "the result would be terrible calamity, because if we fight, no force on earth could ever halt us."

Later in the talk, Khrushchev stood fast on Soviet demands for Germany and Berlin which the Western Allies have repeatedly rejected. He said both West and East Germany should be recognized and normal relations established, and that West Berlin should be made a free city guaranteed by all countries and the United Nations.

Asked by Gov. Stephen McNichols of Colorado why not allow the German people to decide their future in a free, all-German election, Khrushchev said the East Germans don't want to see an end to their achievements and neither do the West Germans. He added that the East Germans won't give up their constitution.

Khrushchev said Soviet attempts to catch up with U.S. production "won't be depriving you of anything" — that increased Soviet production won't decrease American output.

"I have heard some complaints about our attempts to catch up with the United States," he continued. "We do want to catch up. You want to eat a lot only for yourselves, and that is a selfish approach.

"You have a rich, big strong country. And we want to be like you in that respect."

Council Clears Handrail Job On Low Offer

NEW CUMBERLAND — Town Council Tuesday night awarded a contract to the Williams Welding Co. of Weirton for repair of handrails on all steps maintained by the community.

The firm entered a bid of $253.22 for repairs on four pairs of stairs. The Albino Co. of Weirton submitted a bid of $317.40.

In other action, it was announced that the community's water customers will be without service Friday night while crews flush the lines from the reservoir. Flushing will be completed by Elmer Bailey, fire chief, and Gerald Rainey, maintenance supervisor. Work will be started late Friday night and service is expected to be restored early Saturday.

Mrs. Wagner submitted a report of the town's budget for the 1958-59 fiscal year to be studied by Council before laying a levy and approving the budget for the 1959-60 fiscal year.

Council also agreed to meet with Charles Gates, a Follansbee engineer, to discuss permanent repairs to streets and alleys.

Blair Geho, a representative of the Kessler Tank Co. of Fremont, spoke to Council about possibilities for contracting to painting steel water tanks.

segregation interferes with equal opportunity in economic and political fields, it is—in his opinion—morally wrong.

Esenhower, in his reply, made no mention of segregation in education.

KHRUSHCHEV — Eisenhower said he does not regard a visit to this country by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as beyond the realm of possibility.

He spoke, however, of the difficulties he said such a visit would present if the purpose were talks regarding international problems.

If, on the other hand, such a visit were simply ceremonial, then the matter of what kind of reception Khrushchev would get in this country would be the only factor, he said.

Eisenhower was told that Khrushchev again has spoken of the possibility of the President visiting Russia. The President replied that this was the first he had heard of the latest Khrushchev overture. For that reason, he said, he has not reached any conclusion. He went on to say that such a visit, too, also raises several questions.

For example, he said, the United States is a member of an international group of nations—an obvious reference to NATO and the United Nations. Those nations work together for peace, he said.

In substance, Eisenhower thus ruled out any visits by himself or Khrushchev which could be construed as efforts by the Soviet Union and the United States to settle international problems without participation by other nations whose interest were involved.

HARRIMAN—The President hit indirectly at Khrushchev in expressing amazement—if not disbelief—regarding remarks attributed to the Soviet Premier by former Gov. W. Averell Harriman of New York.

A reporter said that Harriman, in an article in Life magazine about his recent talk with Khrushchev, quoted the Soviet leader as saying that if the United States wants war, "you can have it."

Asked what he thinks about that kind of talk, Eisenhower replied that he believes responsible people should not indulge in any sort of talk which could be regarded as amounting to an ultimatum or threat.

DE GAULLE — As for the U.S. announcement today that this country is pulling three fighter-bomber wings out of France, Eisenhower said he and French President Charles de Gaulle have long agreed that when they can get together they will talk over all differences between the two countries.

The wings are being moved from French bases because De Gaulle will not agree to storing U.S. atomic weapons on French soil.

Eisenhower said he and De Gaulle, in talking about the possibility of a meeting in the future, never have singled out that particular issue. But the President left no doubt it would be discussed if they should meet.

Roving Reporter Talks For Wellsville Kiwanis

Stu Wilson, the "Roving Reporter" of television station WKBN at Youngstown, discussed lore of the Ohio River in a talk Tuesday before the Wellsville Kiwanis Club at Piatt's Tea Room.

Wilson also discussed the proposed sale of the showboat Majestic, which was operated for many years by Hiram College. He said a private group is attempting to raise funds for the purchase. It then will attempt to operate the showboat on the rivers, he said.

Man, 77, Hurt In City Mishap While On Foot

A 77-year-old Jefferson St. man was injured when struck by a car on W. 6th St. Tuesday night and three cars were damaged on W. 9th St. in an early morning mishap in which a city motorist was cited for leaving the scene of an accident and driving while intoxicated.

William Raybon, 514 Jefferson St., was treated at City Hospital for bruises and abrasions of the scalp suffered at 10:20 p. m. when he was hit by a car at Jefferson and W. 6th Sts.

Police said the auto, driven by Lawrence B. McHenry, 75, of Barbourville, W. Va., was turning left from Jefferson when the mishap occurred. McHenry told officers he did not see the pedestrian until he was only a few feet away.

Jack Johnston, 39, of 110½ Summit Ln. was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail for driving while intoxicated and $25 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident at a hearing this morning before Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw.

Johnston was cited about 3 a. m. today after his car struck two parked autos on W. 9th St. west of May St., police said.

His 1952 sedan hit a parked 1950 sedan owned by Eunice Long, 519 W. 9th St., and a 1958 coupe owned by Robert Rickey, 810½ Lisbon St., damaging the left sides of all three autos, officers reported.

Johnston's license was suspended for six months by Judge Brokaw. He faces further loss of his license with the compiling of six points each on the two violations, making a total of 12 points in the state traffic point system for which a driver is deprived of his operating privileges.

Minor damage resulted from a collision between a car driven by Henry Greenwood, 66, of 708 Bradshaw Ave. and a truck operated by Giles Webster, 57, of Flint, Mich., on W. 6th St. yesterday afternoon at 5:37.

Greenwood told police he was headed east on 6th St. at Broadway on the outside lane when the truck—on the inside lane and also driving east—turned into the outside lane and hit the right bumper of the auto.

Doctor Tells Rotary Club Stories Of 'Arizona Bill'

While still a youth in high school, Dr. William L. Gilmore chanced to encounter one of the Wild West's greatest tale-spinners, whose yarns of hair-raising Indian battles later proved to be true.

Speaking at the Rotary Club's meeting Tuesday noon in the Travelers Hotel, Dr. Gilmore said his acquaintance with the bearded character who called himself "Arizona Bill" was one of the most unforgettable experiences of his life.

The former Indian scout, Dr. Gilmore learned, turned out to be a fascinating teller of tales of the Old West, where he lived many years, including several as a member of various Indian tribes.

Dr. Gilmore chanced to run across the old - timer near Gettysburg as "Arizona Bill" was passing through Pennsylvania with his burro and a few personal belongings.

Complaining of feeling ill, Arizona Bill accepted the invitation of Dr. Gilmore and a companion — Raymond Gaines — to spend the night with them at a nearby mountain lodge.

The visit of the old - timer lasted three days. When it was over, the two youths had heard stirring tales of famous Indian battles with the U. S. Cavalry and of Arizona Bill's life with the Sioux and Comanches.

Arizona Bill told the youths that his parents were killed by the Indians on their trip to Western territory and that he had been raised as a Comanche since he was 17.

The expedition his parents were traveling with later met its fate in the famous Donner Pass in California, where the party became trapped by heavy winter snow.

While living with the Comanches, the old - timer said he saw horrible torture of white pioneers. He told of his travels with the tribe while following buffalo herds.

Arizona Bill explained to the youths that he was not harmed by the Indians because of his flaming head of hair, which the tribes thought to be supernatural. The Comanches later traded him to a tribe of Sioux for several blankets, horses and women, Dr. Gilmore quoted the old-timer.

Later in life, an Army officer persuaded Arizona Bill to become a scout and he turned out to be one of the most respected of the time, Dr. Gilmore said.

The acquaintances of the bearded man included Chief Sitting Bull, Buffalo Bill and other wild west characters around Tombstone, Ariz. He was a scout for Gen. Custer at the time of the battle of Little Big Horn, when Custer's entire force was wiped out by the Indians.

Dr. Gilmore displayed to the club a photograph of the scout taken during their Gettysburg meeting. The doctor explained that he never learned when Arizona Bill died, but has read articles on his life.

Dr. Gilmore was introduced by Charles Taylor, new president of Rotary. Taylor was presented with the president's pin and gavel by Dean Wilhelm, retiring president. Wilhelm received a past president's pin.

Guests included two from Midland, one from Charleston, S. C., and Richard Boyce of Washington, brother of David Boyce and Robert Boyce, Rotary members. It was announced the club picnic has been set tentatively for Aug. 25.

Wheat Growers Wait Vote On 1960 Controls

Wheat growers of Hancock County will join with others in 38 states July 23 to decide a referendum on the type of marketing control program they will have for the 1960 crop.

C. C. Herron of Pughtown, chairman of the County Agricultural, Stabliization and Conservation Committee, said Hancock farmers will vote in the ASC office in New Cumberland.

If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve quotas, they will remain in effect for the 1960 wheat crop and price support will be available to farmers who comply with their farm allotments.

Any farmer is eligible to vote who expects to produce more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1960, except a grower who participated in the feed wheat program in 1959.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter who is 21 plans to marry in about two months. She's known the boy (also 21) for only four months. He seems to be a nice chap but I'm opposed to this marriage with good reason.

He was married before and now has custody of a son who is less than 2 years old. The child is untrained and still on the bottle. I think the fellow is rushing my daughter because the little boy is a problem and he's looking for a mother.

My daughter is headstrong and we've had some bitter arguments. She thinks I don't want her to get married because it will mean the end of her contributing $15 a week to the house. I've been a widow for 14 years and for many years I managed without her $15. I can manage without it again.

I've pleaded with her to wait six months and see if she still wants to marry the boy. I promised to give my blessing if she'll give my plan a try. Can you say a word, please?—MRS. J.M.N.

Dear Mrs. J.M.N.: I agree the girl should hold off six months before she makes a final decision. At 21 she's not exactly a candidate for the Old Folks Home.

Starting out with a child is not easy. If some of these young gals were more realistic about marriage they wouldn't grab the first opportunity as if it were the last train to Jersey. I hope your daughter listens.

Odd Behavior

Dear Ann: My husband just paid me the highest insult of all time. He bought a portable safety deposit box with a padlock. Every night when he gets ready for bed he empties his pockets and locks up the contents in this box. He keeps the key hidden somewhere.

I never took a thing in my life that didn't belong to me, much less go into his pockets. He makes a great show of locking the box and it makes me boil.

I've heard that men sometimes go through a trying period when they hit 50, the same as women. He's 52. Could this have anything to do with it?—PLAIN MAD.

Dear Mad: Indeed some men go through a trying period and often the personality changes are marked. Insist that he see a doctor. And ignore his odd behavior. He sounds more sick than ornery.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Compromise May Pave Way To Increase On Car License

By DUANE E. CROFT

COLUMBUS — A compromise appeared to have cleared the way today for passage in the closing days of the 103rd General Assembly of a bill to increase auto license fees.

The agreement, worked out in the Senate State Government Committee, would raise the price of auto license tags from $10 to $14 but delay the boost to 1961.

This would answer cities' demands for more local government funds as well as overcome legislators' reluctance.

To pass any more tax increases before they have to stand for election again.

As originally proposed in the house, the bill would have increased license fees $5. Because of the representatives' touchiness about more tax increases, however, the boost was cut back to $2.50 on the floor of the lower chamber. It then passed the House, 76-53.

The bill was still deemed to have slim chance of passage in the Senate, however, especially after Gov. Michael V. DiSalle told newsmen he would not be disappointed if the measure never reached his desk. He emphasized it was not a part of his new-revenue program.

The Ohio Municipal League and other spokesmen for cities expressed their bitterness over the Legislature's failure to provide any additional revenue for them. Most of the income from license plate sales is returned to local governments.

The cities were reported to have agreed earlier not to oppose other measure if they could get some new money. Among the measures were the county fees boost and the two-cent gasoline tax increase, all of which is earmarked for state highway construction use.

Despite their reluctance to add to their tax-increase woes, many legislators felt the local governments were entitled to a share of the new revenue being enacted by the Legislature.

This was the basis for the compromise on the license plate fee. The cities would get their money, but the increase would not take effect until after next year's legislative elections.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Children Need Good Sex Education

Children living almost anywhere having so much time on their hands in summer, may engage more in sex play than while school was in session.

By Garry Meyers

They find more secret places for this kind of play if they live in outlying areas. Though parents who move to suburbs or suburbia suppose they are providing a safer normal environment for their children, they may be over-optimistic. With more wide-open places relatively unexposed to traffic hazards, the children have more opportunities to run about and explore the ways of Nature. Also they have more opportunities to wander out of sight of adults and to find secret places to engage in sex exploring. While there is "safety in numbers," an occasional older child in the community, though supposed to be a "good" child, may exploit the younger ones and spread undesirable sex habits among them.

PARENTS OF children from two to 12 or 14, living in these areas, would do well to be vigilant, to know where these children are, to have a responsible person to supervise them, guide them on hikes and organize them for more games and creative fun.

Good sex education of children is more than answering their questions about the facts of life. It cultivates in them deep respect for the bodies of other children.

Without spying on your children, but by observing them in hundreds of situations in play, as they romp and wrestle and tussle, you can get over to these children that they shall not kick, hit, or explore with their hands, even casually, any portions of another child's body.

Very early the youngster can understand this general rule. Often he has heard you say, "We just don't do that."

Of course he needs also to acquire inhibitions, habits of holding himself back from what he knows he should not do. This is what the average youngster of today lacks most.

SO YOU CAN see that the child who has learned early the meaning of NO as the basis for self-control and respect for the rights of others has one essential bit of wholesome sex education. If, in addition, he feels loved and understood by his parents and accepts them as his confidantes, freely asking them any questions he feels like asking or reporting to them any experience he feels like reporting, he should not be very likely to drift into undesirable sex habits and practices with other children.

And if he should happen to do so, he has good resources for recovery from these habits and practices.

My bulletins, "Answering Child's Questions About Sex" and "Undesirable Sex Practices in Children," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

California Man Jailed For Theft Of Gasoline

A California man was fined and sentenced to jail for stealing gasoline from a car at a hearing Tuesday night before Squire Eugene Allison at Chester.

Randall J. Jura, 21, pleaded guilty to "tampering with and removing gasoline from a motor vehicle without the owner's consent." He was fined $50 and costs and given 30 days in the Hancock County Jail at New Cumberland.

An additional 10 days was added to the jail sentence in lieu of the fine and costs.

Jura was arrested yesterday morning about 2 by Deputy Sheriff Edward Frankovitch while siphoning gas from a car at the Homer Laughlin China Co. parking lot.

Southern Local Seeks Renewal For 2 Levies

The Southern Local Board of Education filed with the County Election Board Tuesday a resolution to place on the Nov. 3 general election ballot proposals to renew two existing levies of 2 and 3 mills, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the Election Board, reported today.

The levies for current expenses will total a 5-mill measure for a period of 5 years he said. The school district includes the former Salineville and Wayne Districts and parts of the Yellow Creek district consolidated two years ago.

Program Planned In Drive To Check Rheumatic Fever

A new program adopted by the medical staff of City Hospital to prevent rheumatic fever in school children was outlined at a meeting of the staff Tuesday night at the hospital.

Dr. Hugh Bennett, a representative of the Youngstown Area Heart Association, outlined the program to the local physicians. Beginning this fall in all city schools, the school nurse and a Heart Association nurse will make checks on any child who has symptoms of a sore throat. If examinations show presence of streptococcus, the parents and family doctor will be notified.

Some streptococci are very dangerous, causing various acute diseases affecting the sinuses, lungs, joints and blood and are major causes of heart ailments.

The staff voted last month to adopt the program, according to Dr. Edith S. Gilmore, president.

No discussion was held on the problem of giving polio shots during summer "incident months." Some physicians oppose the move, while others do not.

Dr. Gilmore said there will be no public program held as not as much free vaccine is available as previously. Most local doctors will give the shots in their offices, she said.

A compulsory polio measure has been adopted by the State Legislature making it necessary for children to have polio shots before entering school this fall.

The next meeting of the staff will be Aug. 4.

Things Looking Up For Farmer, Family

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) — Things are looking up for tenant farmer Nathan Miller and his family. They'll be on the way to greener pastures next week.

Miller, 55, said recently after his 35-year-old wife gave birth to triplet girls that they might have to offer the babies for adoption because of money problems. Miller made only $25 a week.

Tuesday, Miller accepted a $200-a-month job on an egg farm near Charlotte, N.C. The family will have a house rent free.

Vice President Plans To Extend Soviet Union Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon is reported planning to extend his tour of the Soviet Union to cover nine cities, including areas rarely opened to foreigners. His visit, starting July 23, may last two weeks.

He is understood to be willing to stay longer than the single week originally arranged — provided Kremlin authorities allow him to see more than the usual tourist attractions.

This became known today after more than a month of U.S. negotiations between the State Department and the Soviet foreign office. But details still are vague. Neither side wants to talk about them.

Soviet authorities are reported cooperating cautiously in meeting most of Nixon's requests. This Soviet attitude is due mainly to the all-out hospitality shown by the Eisenhower administration to visiting Soviet Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov.

Area Youth Improves From Car-Bike Crash

Allen Biggins, 11, of Apples Corners — injured in a bicycle accident Monday night in which a companion was killed — is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital.

Charles Ferguson, 10, of New Cumberland R. D. 1 was killed when he rode his bike into the side of an auto on Route 267 south of Apples Corners. The Biggins boy, who also was on the bike, suffered a fractured leg, skull injury and cuts. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Biggins.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Children Need Good Sex Education

Children living almost anywhere having so much time on their hands in summer, may engage more in sex play than while school was in session.

By Garry Meyers

They find more secret places for this kind of play if they live in outlying areas. Though parents who move to suburbs or suburbia suppose they are providing a safer normal environment for their children, they may be over-optimistic. With more wide-open places relatively unexposed to traffic hazards, the children have more opportunities to run about and explore the ways of Nature. Also they have more opportunities to wander out of sight of adults and to find secret places to engage in sex exploring. While there is "safety in numbers," an occasional older child in the community, though supposed to be a "good" child, may exploit the younger ones and spread undesirable sex habits among them.

PARENTS OF children from two to 12 or 14, living in these areas, would do well to be vigilant, to know where these children are, to have a responsible person to supervise them, guide them on hikes and organize them for more games and creative fun.

Good sex education of children is more than answering their questions about the facts of life. It cultivates in them deep respect for the bodies of other children.

Without spying on your children, but by observing them in hundreds of situations in play, as they romp and wrestle and tussle, you can get over to these children that they shall not kick, hit, or explore with their hands, even casually, any portions of another child's body.

Very early the youngster can understand this general rule. Often he has heard you say, "We just don't do that."

Of course he needs also to acquire inhibitions, habits of holding himself back from what he knows he should not do. This is what the average youngster of today lacks most.

SO YOU CAN see that the child who has learned early the meaning of NO as the basis for self-control and respect for the rights of others has one essential bit of wholesome sex education. If, in addition, he feels loved and understood by his parents and accepts them as his confidantes, freely asking them any questions he feels like asking or reporting to them any experience he feels like reporting, he should not be very likely to drift into undesirable sex habits and practices with other children.

And if he should happen to do so, he has good resources for recovery from these habits and practices.

My bulletins, "Answering Child's Questions About Sex" and "Undesirable Sex Practices in Children," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

California Man Jailed For Theft Of Gasoline

A California man was fined and sentenced to jail for stealing gasoline from a car at a hearing Tuesday night before Squire Eugene Allison at Chester.

Randall J. Jura, 21, pleaded guilty to "tampering with and removing gasoline from a motor vehicle without the owner's consent." He was fined $50 and costs and given 30 days in the Hancock County Jail at New Cumberland.

An additional 10 days was added to the jail sentence in lieu of the fine and costs.

Hot Weather Puts Punch In Soft Drink Industry

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The weather — no matter what you think of it — is just dandy for the soft drink industry. So is the general recovery in business.

More thirsts are being quenched this year — and oftener. The industry expects to get well above last year's 2¼ billion-dollar sales.

"Everyone's excited about the first six month results," says one spokesman, "and the summer looks like a record for us."

But the competition is getting terrific. Whether you drink your favorite carbonated beverage out of a bottle or a can, or get it from a counterman's pump, or make your own from powders or a tablet, you're going to be wooed as never before.

Sales volume fell off in 1958 from the year before, breaking a long line of annual growth. Blamed were last summer's cool and wet weather in many parts of the nation, and the recession which closed many industrial plants, cutting into vending sales that depend so much on impulse selling.

This year factories are humming again. And the weather in most places has been hot and humid — making that impulse for a soft and cooling drink almost compulsive.

The American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages estimated that its part of the industry sold 32½ billion bottles in 1958, off a tenth of one per cent from 1957. But because of higher prices, value of the bottles rose from slightly more than 1¼ billion dollars in 1957 to nearly 1¼ billion in 1958.

Consumption per person slipped to 187 bottles in 1958 from 189½ the previous year. Booming sales so far this year make the bottlers confident that both per capita consumption and dollar value will rise notably.

The Can Manufacturers Institute estimates that 400 million cans of soft drinks were sold in 1958, a five per cent gain over 1957. It says that the first four months of this year found soft drink sales in cans up 43 per cent over the like period of 1958.

Bottlers and canners battle hard for shelf space in supermarkets. Bottlers have big investments in bottles and equipment and have been loathe to turn to cans. But the can makers stress to the supermarkets the chance to rid themselves of deposits, bottle returns, breakage and storage of empties.

And now there is the even newer effervescent soft drink tablet developed by Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. Called "Fizzies," the tablets come in sheets of eight, about as big as an ordinary letter. The six flavors are aimed at both the child and adult markets and an artificial sweetener reduces the tablets to four calories.

Michigan Governor Says Kozlov Shrewd And Tough

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams says Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov is shrewd and tough and it will take a Yankee trader to beat him.

Williams made the appraisal Tuesday night after what he called a "knock down and drag out" verbal fight with Kozlov.

The six-term Democratic governor, who has the backing of his state party for the presidential nomination in 1960, appeared to feel he had the better of his sparring with Kozlov as he described it to a news conference.

Kozlov leaves today for a three-day visit in Chicago.

For an hour Williams and Kozlov had a private conference in a Detroit hotel room following Kozlov's tour of industrial Detroit. Williams said he fired a series of written questions at the deputy premier. Then he said they argued through their own interpreters and at one point Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov got worried and intervened.

Williams said Kozlov flared up at a question of self-determination and free elections for the Soviet Union's European satellites.

Williams said Kozlov argued that the people of East Germany and other Soviet satellites had made their choice and that anything to the contrary was propaganda.

The governor said he told Kozlov that Soviet tanks ruthlessly put down a revolt in East Germany six years ago.

"I pointed out that Poland, one of the most Catholic countries in the world, had been deprived of freedom of religion," Williams said.

"I told him that in Hungary the Soviets agreed to withdraw and did, but came back with Soviet tanks and troops and imposed their will on the people. I told him the Romanian people certainly did not feel the regime represented them.

"He told me that all I heard was a lot of propaganda. I told him the American people would not believe a single word he said."

All colonies of Spain are in Africa.

For School Children

Polio Shots Bill Signed By DiSalle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio law now requires school children to be immunized against polio, whooping cough, small pox, lockjaw and diphtheria.

An emergency measure, effective with the governor's signature, was signed Tuesday. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle called the immunization plan "a good beginning," but he said there may be several shortcomings.

Children who present to school officials written objections from their parents will not be required to take the immunization shots.

DiSalle estimated it may cost local governments 1¼ million dollars the first year, and about $125,000 a year thereafter, to immunize children whose parents have not provided for the inoculations. The state has not made any funds available for the project.

The governor questioned whether some parents might not delay the required shots until a child reaches school age and can get them at public expense. Medical authorities recommend that the shots be given before the age of five, DiSalle said.

The governor also raised the possibility that mass immunizations might not provide adequate safeguards to determine if a child is allergic to certain serums used in the shots.

For those reasons, he said, he signed the act with some misgivings.

DiSalle also announced that effective July 1 the heads of mental health institutions and divisions will be allowed to employ the people they need, limited only by preapproved "staffing patterns" and the budget.

Church Of Christ Parley Votes Final Merger Speed

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Some things about the United Church of Christ occasionally seem a bit intangible to its representatives meeting here today.

They say their newly-merged denomination has an abundance of spirit, but they're sometimes haunted by the temporary lack of complete organization substance.

"It's becoming increasingly difficult to say we're united when technically we're not," the Rev. William C. Nelson of Akron, said Tuesday in urging early action on a constitution.

About 750 delegates, rejecting a proposal to stretch out the constitution-framing process into a four-year period, authorized a special procedure to permit getting the task finalized in two years.

"I'm beginning to feel very much like I'm involved in a common-law marriage," said the Rev. William C. Blair, of Newport, N. H., in urging expeditious action. "What we need is a nuptial contract."

The union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian General Council was declared formally in being two years ago, but much of the merging mechanics still awaits a constitution.

Although agencies of the two bodies already work together in many ways, it's on a tentative basis, and they still must maintain separate corporate identities and administrations.

When the church's five-day general synod began here Sunday, the expectation was that it would act on a constitution, then give local units two years to ratify it before putting it in force at the next biennial meeting two years hence.

However, the executive council Tuesday recommended that action on the document be delayed two years to give local churches more time to study it and air their views, with two more years afterward allowed for ratification.

But this four-year procedure was swept aside, and delegates overwhelmingly approved a quicker plan proposed by Miss Helen Kenyon, of New Haven, Conn., to telescope both processes in two years.

The new schedule allows local churches a year to appraise the charter, with an extraordinary convention next year to approve it, and then just one year for ratification prior to the next regular biennial session in 1961.

The extra convention will cost an estimated $60,000-$75,000.

Although the plan technically precludes any definite action on the constitution by the current meeting, delegates promptly went to work on it anyway. Considerable sentiment favored some kind of immediate action.

This conceivably still could occur.

CDA Resolution Hits Decision Of Court On Movie

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Catholic Daughters of America, at its final session here Tuesday, adopted a resolution criticizing the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision in regard to the movie "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

The resolution was approved by the supreme directorate from 12 states and representing 250,000 women in 45 states. It said the interpretation of the high court "seems to advocate teaching in clear conflict with divine law."

The Supreme Court's decision overruled the New York State Court of Appeals, which had banned the movie on the basis of its state law because the subject matter is adultery presented as being right and desirable. The U.S. Court ruled the New York law was a violation of the first amendment's guarantee of freedom to advocate ideas.

Chessman To Hear New Date With Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Caryl Chessman returns soon to Los Angeles to hear his new date with death.

The appointment for his seventh execution date was set up Tuesday when the California Supreme Court upheld two death sentences imposed on the convict-author 11 years ago.

The court unanimously rejected the 32-year-old San Quentin Prisoner's contention the transcript of his Los Angeles trial in May 1948, was faulty.

PUCO Denies Pennsy Move

Mayor William J. Shoub reported to Wellsville Council Tuesday night that the Ohio Public Utilities Commission has denied the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. permission to close its freight station and make it a non-agency station.

A hearing on the request was held in September 1958 and the finding was filed at Columbus June 24, Shoub said.

The PUCO ruled that permission was denied because the closing would be "detrimental to the public of Wellsville." It was pointed out that the station serves a population of about 8,000 and a large industrial area.

The railroad wanted to move all business to East Liverpool.

A PUCO examiner stated in the finding that the revenue of the station from July 1, 1957, to June 30, 1958, was $296,402.82, while the only direct expense was $6,135.65, which was primarily the pay of an agent.

The examiner also stated that "when one compares this small direct expense of maintaining the agency with the much greater revenue, it does not seem logical that the railroad should be permitted to remove the agency."

Shoub, Solicitor William Bush and Wilbur MacLean, a member of the Kiwanis public and business affairs committee, attend the hearing to protest the closing.

Council went on record thanking the men for their interest and work in connection with the action.

Crowd Waited At Opening Of Camp Meeting

A crowd of worshippers from throughout the tri-state area is expected at the Anderson Blvd. camp grounds Thursday night at 7:30 for the opening of the 38th annual 10-day camp meeting of the Rochester District of the Free Methodist Church.

Approximately 200 to 300 persons will reside in cottages on the grounds, but hundreds of others are expected to drive here daily for services. Weekend crowds generally hit 1,000.

The principal evangelist, the Rev. L. A. Robart of Grand Rapids, Mich., will speak twice daily — at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Another worship service will be held each day at 1:30 p. m. Rev. Robart has served as a pastor, district superintendent and evangelist and now is serving on the General Conference Commission on Evangelism.

The Rev. R. L. Page, 1606 Pennsylvania Ave., district superintendent, will be in charge of the camp, assisted by the 22 ministers of the district and a corps of special workers.

Activities for children and youth are being planned by the district board of Christian Education of which Howard Diddle of East Liverpool is chairman. The board has engaged Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Perkins of Garden Prairie, Ill., as children's workers. Both are graduates of Greenville College and have specialized in children's work for many years.

Also assisting in the youth program will be the Rev. H. C. Mitchell of New Brighton, the Rev. L. A. Tomb of East Liverpool and Merlin C. Baker, also of New Brighton. Baker will be in charge of the recreational program at the camp. A recent graduate of the theological department of Roberts Wesleyan College, he expects to receive appointment at the annual conference of the church here in late July.

The Rev. Paul Brookes of Chester will be song evangelist for the meeting.

Heading the camp commissary department will be Mrs. Virginia Torrence of East Liverpool. A completely remodeled kitchen will aid in serving meals.

Although the series is sponsored by tri-state Free Methodist churches, the camp is open to any one who wishes to attend services, Rev. Page emphasized.

The daily camp schedule is: 6:30 a. m., rising bell; 7, prayer meeting; 8, breakfast; 9, group or family prayer; 9:30, children's meeting and CYC and FMY sessions; 10:45, morning worship, 12 noon, lunch.

Starting in the afternoon, the balance of the schedule is: 1:30, CYC hour; 3, rest, prayer, and recreation; 5:30, dinner; 6:30, prayer; 7, youth sings; 7:30, evangelistic hour, 10:45, warning bell, 11:15, lights out.

Boy Disappears From Boat And Believed Drowned

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Bernard Gilbert Tate, 15, of Cleveland, disappeared from a stalled motorboat in Lake Erie about two miles from here Tuesday and was presumed drowned.

He was left in the boat while his fishing companion swam for help, but when Coast Guardsmen arrived at the scene the 12-foot boat was empty. They found a life preserve cushion to which the boy was believed to have been clinging.

Harry Shanklin, 50, also of Cleveland, said he and the Tate boy were fishing early Tuesday when the boy became seasick. They tried to start the motor of the boat to return to shore, but it wouldn't start, he added. Shanklin said he decided to swim for help after water began to splash over the stern of the boat. Shanklin was picked up by another boat not far from shore and he notified the Coast Guard.

U.S. To Move 3 Of Bomber Wing Bases

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

PARIS (AP) — Three fighter-bomber wings of the U.S. Air Force will soon be moved from French bases to fields in Britain and West Germany, the United States announced today.

U.S. Ambassador to NATO W. Randolph Burgess made the decision known at a meeting of the North Atlantic Council.

The move had been generally expected because President Charles de Gaulle will not agree to storing U.S. atomic arms on French soil.

The transfer will involve 200 jet fighter-bombers which have been assigned atomic missions in case of war. The move is to be started immediately and will be completed before the end of the summer. The jets are based along the French-German frontier.

In the American view the French refusal to allow atomic stockpiles had made it impossible for the planes to fulfill their mission from French bases.

The shift to bases where atomic stockpiles would be close at hand was therefore the only logical military procedure, officials said.

The French have refused to commit their air force to an integrated NATO air defense in Europe, except for planes it assigned to tactical NATO support in Germany.

The decision was the first concrete American reaction to De Gaulle's increasingly independent attitude toward NATO.

De Gaulle has refused to admit U.S. atomic stockpiles unless France is given control of their use. U.S. law requires that American officers retain control of the nuclear warheads for weapons, although foreign governments control the weapons themselves.

7 Spacemen See Capsule White Hot In Roaring Heat

By ELTON C. FAY

LANGLEY RESEARCH CENTER, Va. (AP)—The nation's seven Mercury astronauts, sampling what lies ahead for them, watched a miniature space capsule glow white hot in thousands of degrees of roaring heat today.

It was part of a demonstration for visiting newsmen of the man-in-space program which the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is pressing "with utmost urgency" at its laboratories here.

The capsule was a model of those in which the astronauts are to ride into space orbit in 1961. The heating effect of air friction is only one of the problems being studied here in an effort to assure their safe return. That problem apparently has been solved.

As the test program now stands, NASA scientists will begin experimenting late this summer with the "Little Joe" rocket launcher — a squat cluster of solid fuel rockets designed for measuring the realiability of equipment, with test firings from Wallops Island, Va. Following this will come capsule re-entry experiments using the Army Redstone rocket, then moving into tests in which chimpanzees ride in the capsules. When the chimpanzees have "test flown" the capsule, the astronauts will be ready for manned flight—some time in 1961.

Crowd Waited At Opening Of Camp Meeting

A crowd of worshippers from throughout the tri-state area is expected at the Anderson Blvd. camp grounds Thursday night at 7:30 for the opening of the 38th annual 10-day camp meeting of the Rochester District of the Free Methodist Church.

Approximately 200 to 300 persons will reside in cottages on the grounds, but hundreds of others are expected to drive here daily for services. Weekend crowds generally hit 1,000.

The principal evangelist, the Rev. L. A. Robart of Grand Rapids, Mich., will speak twice daily — at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Another worship service will be held each day at 1:30 p. m. Rev. Robart has served as a pastor, district superintendent and evangelist and now is serving on the General Conference Commission on Evangelism.

The Rev. R. L. Page, 1606 Pennsylvania Ave., district superintendent, will be in charge of the camp, assisted by the 22 ministers of the district and a corps of special workers.

Activities for children and youth are being planned by the district board of Christian Education of which Howard Diddle of East Liverpool is chairman. The board has engaged Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Perkins of Garden Prairie, Ill., as children's workers. Both are graduates of Greenville College and have specialized in children's work for many years.

Also assisting in the youth program will be the Rev. H. C. Mitchell of New Brighton, the Rev. L. A. Tomb of East Liverpool and Merlin C. Baker, also of New Brighton. Baker will be in charge of the recreational program at the camp. A recent graduate of the theological department of Roberts Wesleyan College, he expects to receive appointment at the annual conference of the church here in late July.

The Rev. Paul Brookes of Chester will be song evangelist for the meeting.

Heading the camp commissary department will be Mrs. Virginia Torrence of East Liverpool. A completely remodeled kitchen will aid in serving meals.

Although the series is sponsored by tri-state Free Methodist churches, the camp is open to any one who wishes to attend services, Rev. Page emphasized.

The daily camp schedule is: 6:30 a. m., rising bell; 7, prayer meeting; 8, breakfast; 9, group or family prayer; 9:30, children's meeting and CYC and FMY sessions; 10:45, morning worship, 12 noon, lunch.

Starting in the afternoon, the balance of the schedule is: 1:30, CYC hour; 3, rest, prayer, and recreation; 5:30, dinner; 6:30, prayer; 7, youth sings; 7:30, evangelistic hour, 10:45, warning bell, 11:15, lights out.

Boy Disappears From Boat And Believed Drowned

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Bernard Gilbert Tate, 15, of Cleveland, disappeared from a stalled motorboat in Lake Erie about two miles from here Tuesday and was presumed drowned.

He was left in the boat while his fishing companion swam for help, but when Coast Guardsmen arrived at the scene the 12-foot boat was empty. They found a life preserve cushion to which the boy was believed to have been clinging.

Harry Shanklin, 50, also of Cleveland, said he and the Tate boy were fishing early Tuesday when the boy became seasick. They tried to start the motor of the boat to return to shore, but it wouldn't start, he added. Shanklin said he decided to swim for help after water began to splash over the stern of the boat. Shanklin was picked up by another boat not far from shore and he notified the Coast Guard.

U.S. To Move 3 Of Bomber Wing Bases

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

PARIS (AP) — Three fighter-bomber wings of the U.S. Air Force will soon be moved from French bases to fields in Britain and West Germany, the United States announced today.

U.S. Ambassador to NATO W. Randolph Burgess made the decision known at a meeting of the North Atlantic Council.

The move had been generally expected because President Charles de Gaulle will not agree to storing U.S. atomic arms on French soil.

The transfer will involve 200 jet fighter-bombers which have been assigned atomic missions in case of war. The move is to be started immediately and will be completed before the end of the summer. The jets are based along the French-German frontier.

In the American view the French refusal to allow atomic stockpiles had made it impossible for the planes to fulfill their mission from French bases.

The shift to bases where atomic stockpiles would be close at hand was therefore the only logical military procedure, officials said.

The French have refused to commit their air force to an integrated NATO air defense in Europe, except for planes it assigned to tactical NATO support in Germany.

The decision was the first concrete American reaction to De Gaulle's increasingly independent attitude toward NATO.

De Gaulle has refused to admit U.S. atomic stockpiles unless France is given control of their use. U.S. law requires that American officers retain control of the nuclear warheads for weapons, although foreign governments control the weapons themselves.

7 Spacemen See Capsule White Hot In Roaring Heat

By ELTON C. FAY

LANGLEY RESEARCH CENTER, Va. (AP)—The nation's seven Mercury astronauts, sampling what lies ahead for them, watched a miniature space capsule glow white hot in thousands of degrees of roaring heat today.

It was part of a demonstration for visiting newsmen of the man-in-space program which the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is pressing "with utmost urgency" at its laboratories here.

The capsule was a model of those in which the astronauts are to ride into space orbit in 1961. The heating effect of air friction is only one of the problems being studied here in an effort to assure their safe return. That problem apparently has been solved.

Following this will come capsule re-entry experiments using the Army Redstone rocket, then moving into tests in which chimpanzees ride in the capsules. When the chimpanzees have "test flown" the capsule, the astronauts will be ready for manned flight—some time in 1961.

Wellsville Council Acts

Bonds Approved For Sewage Plant

Legislation authorizing issuance of $300,000 in bonds to pay part of the construction cost of the sewage treatment plant was adopted by Wellsville Council Tuesday night.

Although the completed plant cost over $400,000, the balance is covered by federal aid.

The bonds will be general obligation issues, as voters approved $200,000 at one time and $175,000 at another election.

Money for the construction came from notes held by local financial institutions which were issued in anticipation of the sale of bonds.

The bonds will be in $1,000 denominations and dated to be effective in September. The interest will be payable June 1 and Dec. 1 of each year and $15,000 will mature each year, beginning in 1960.

The bonds first will be offered the city treasurer and then offered for public sale on bids.

Atty. Raymond Knepper, city fiscal agent, pointed out that the money necessary to retire the bonds will come from sewage revenue and the bonds probably never be put on the tax duplicate. If they are, the tax will be outside the 10-mill limitation.

The legislation was adopted under suspension of rules and contains an emergency clause so as to become effective immediately.

Legislation also was adopted authorizing Safety - Service Director William S. Robinson to advertise for bids for the cleaning and painting of the water standpipe on Highland Ave. Ext. and for improvement of 13 city streets.

CONTRACTS will be let by the Board of Control. Some of the streets will be seal-coated and others will be slagged.

Second reading was given an ordinance prohibiting parking on the west side of 11th St. between Commerce and Lisbon Sts. and prohibiting any parking on 12th St. between Commerce and White Sts.

It was reported the Tri - State Asphalt Corp. of Martins Ferry estimated it would cost $2,772 to blacktop the parking lot in front of the sewage treatment plant. Council agreed the cost would be too high and decided to investigate other ways of improving the area.

Legislation was ordered to advertise for bids for a half - ton pickup truck for use at the sewage plant. Councilman J. Frederick Russell said pump motors at each end of town on interceptor sewers and force mains have to be inspected daily and that transportation is needed. Legislation also was ordered to appropriate $1,700 for the purchase of the truck.

Legislation also was ordered to set up the pay schedule for the chemist and operator at the plant. The chemist's pay will be taken half from the water department and half from the sewage department, while the operator's pay will be half from sewage and half from the floodwall fund.

RUSSELL REPORTED specifications for a water line extension to Russell Heights and the surrounding area are expected to be ready next week. The engineer is behind schedule, he said. A main will be run to the area, which is outside the city limits.

Council directed Robinson to place caution signs on 10th St. near the 10th St. Playground to warn motorists of children crossing the streets. Councilman Dominick Dash said he had received complaints from residents of the area that motorists are speeding along 10th St. They requested signs, he said.

Councilman Robert Runyon reported a manhole opening on 13th St. between Anderson Ave. and Commerce St. needs repair.

Council authorized the dumping of fill material along Riverside Ave. on city property, where residents have placed a wooden tie wall as part of a beautification project.

Members of the Elks Lodge and Knights of Columbus have been working along Riverside in an effort to create a park area overlooking the Ohio River.

Councilman Richard Brown said he has received complaints that trains are "speeding" through Wellsville. Solicitor William Bush was asked to check to find if there is an ordinance governing the speed of trains through the town.

COUNCIL WENT on record as favoring construction of a new post office building in Wellsville and directed the clerk to notify the Post Office Department of the action.

The action resulted when Myron Weis, council president, remarked that about a year ago there was a move underway to have a new post office constructed, but that it died down.

A resolution was ordered to accept a $500 endowment from Mrs. Eleanor Dawson of Circleville for the perpetual care of a lot at Springhill Cemetery.

Mayor William J. Shoub's report for June showed a total of $1,033 collected in fines and fees.

Reports from Auditor E. S. Davidson and Treasurer Charles W. Stewart showed balances of $185,455.30 and $187,804.22, respectively.

The Rev. Richard Beidler of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian Church gave the invocation and Brown offered the benediction.

Adm. Yarnell, Asiatic Policy Figure, Taken

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Adm. Harry E. Yarnell, U.S.N. (ret), 83, who helped form the United States' firm policy in the Far East immediately before World War II, died Tuesday at the Newport Naval Hospital.

He had been hospitalized for two weeks. The cause of death was not announced.

Adm. Yarnell was commander of the Asiatic fleet when the Japanese sank the U.S. gunboat Panay on the Yangtze River in China in 1937. He was instrumental in bringing about the Japanese payment of $2,200,000 indemnity for the incident.

He served for many years in the Far East and was given a free hand in meeting diplomatic problems on the spot. He said "no" to the Japanese for three years prior to Pearl Harbor and the United States' stand during the turbulent years of the undeclared Sino-Japanese war came to be known as the "Yarnell policy."

Yarnell served in every shooting war involving the United States from the time of his graduation from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1897 until his retirement in 1937.

X15 Rocket Will Have Pug, Not Needle Nose

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—When the X15 rocket plane blasts off toward the fringes of space it will have a pug, not a needle nose.

A round ball that replaces the lance-like nose of the swept-wing experimental ship was turned over to this test facility Tuesday.

The new nose is instrumented so the pilot can determine immediately any pitching or sideslipping that could create intense friction and burn up the ship as it tries to enter the earth's atmosphere.

Frederick Russell said pump motors at each end of town on interceptor sewers and force mains have to be inspected daily and that transportation is needed. Legislation also was ordered to appropriate $1,700 for the purchase of the truck.

Legislation also was ordered to set up the pay schedule for the chemist and operator at the plant. The chemist's pay will be taken half from the water department and half from the sewage department, while the operator's pay will be half from sewage and half from the floodwall fund.

RUSSELL REPORTED specifications for a water line extension to Russell Heights and the surrounding area are expected to be ready next week. The engineer is behind schedule, he said. A main will be run to the area, which is outside the city limits.

Council directed Robinson to place caution signs on 10th St. near the 10th St. Playground to warn motorists of children crossing the streets. Councilman Dominick Dash said he had received complaints from residents of the area that motorists are speeding along 10th St. They requested signs, he said.

Councilman Robert Runyon reported a manhole opening on 13th St. between Anderson Ave. and Commerce St. needs repair.

Council authorized the dumping of fill material along Riverside Ave. on city property, where residents have placed a wooden tie wall as part of a beautification project.

Members of the Elks Lodge and Knights of Columbus have been working along Riverside in an effort to create a park area overlooking the Ohio River.

Councilman Richard Brown said he has received complaints that trains are "speeding" through Wellsville. Solicitor William Bush was asked to check to find if there is an ordinance governing the speed of trains through the town.

COUNCIL WENT on record as favoring construction of a new post office building in Wellsville and directed the clerk to notify the Post Office Department of the action.

The action resulted when Myron Weis, council president, remarked that about a year ago there was a move underway to have a new post office constructed, but that it died down.

A resolution was ordered to accept a $500 endowment from Mrs. Eleanor Dawson of Circleville for the perpetual care of a lot at Springhill Cemetery.

Mayor William J. Shoub's report for June showed a total of $1,033 collected in fines and fees.

Reports from Auditor E. S. Davidson and Treasurer Charles W. Stewart showed balances of $185,455.30 and $187,804.22, respectively.

The Rev. Richard Beidler of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian Church gave the invocation and Brown offered the benediction.

Adm. Yarnell, Asiatic Policy Figure, Taken

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Adm. Harry E. Yarnell, U.S.N. (ret), 83, who helped form the United States' firm policy in the Far East immediately before World War II, died Tuesday at the Newport Naval Hospital.

He had been hospitalized for two weeks. The cause of death was not announced.

Adm. Yarnell was commander of the Asiatic fleet when the Japanese sank the U.S. gunboat Panay on the Yangtze River in China in 1937. He was instrumental in bringing about the Japanese payment of $2,200,000 indemnity for the incident.

He served for many years in the Far East and was given a free hand in meeting diplomatic problems on the spot. He said "no" to the Japanese for three years prior to Pearl Harbor and the United States' stand during the turbulent years of the undeclared Sino-Japanese war came to be known as the "Yarnell policy."

Yarnell served in every shooting war involving the United States from the time of his graduation from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1897 until his retirement in 1937.

X15 Rocket Will Have Pug, Not Needle Nose

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—When the X15 rocket plane blasts off toward the fringes of space it will have a pug, not a needle nose.

A round ball that replaces the lance-like nose of the swept-wing experimental ship was turned over to this test facility Tuesday.

The new nose is instrumented so the pilot can determine immediately any pitching or sideslipping that could create intense friction and burn up the ship as it tries to enter the earth's atmosphere.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Teeth, Teeth Everywhere!

It's early in the summer and yet already I feel I've had enough smiling to last me through the rest of the year. If that sentence requires explanation, then you haven't been looking at much summer television. (And very sensible of you, too. Just keep the set turned off and read my column. I'll let you know if there's anything worth watching, which is very unlikely.) The fact is, summer performers smile more than winter performers.

John Crosby

For one thing, summer shows go in heavily for singers and singers smile. Oh, boy, do they smile! I have a Smile-o-Meter which tests the voltage of performers' smiles. Or rather I had a Smile-o-Meter. I turned it on one day to test the wattage of John Raitt and, by George, the needle blew right through the wall.

I tell you they don't make a Smile-o-Meter that can stand up against that man's dental work.

A FEW MINUTES later, Miss Janet Blair came on and turned on her bridgework, blinding three of the children.

You mustn't get the idea that I don't like a nice smile now and then. It's just that enough is enough. Putting Janet Blair and John Raitt on the same show is like plugging in the sewing machine into Hoover Dam. It's too much. Much too much.

The combined candlepower of Miss Blair and Mr. Raitt is a national asset, but I feel strongly it should be saved for a national emergency, like making tankers during World War III, maybe.

And believe me, they're not the only ones. Everybody's smiling up a storm this summer. I mean, just to pick a show at random, there's Dave King who is presiding over the Kraft Music Hall and doing a perfectly marvelous job of it. But he never closes his mouth! Never, never!

Have you ever been in a climate where it never rains? Where the sun shines all the time? I tell you you go out of your mind. You find yourself staring haggardly at the skyline, praying for a cloud.

WELL, IT'S LIKE that with all that smiling.

I have nightmares now. First there's the tightening of the throat, then I have this terrible premonition that Janet Blair is at the foot of the bed — smiling, smiling, smiling! I wake up screaming, sweating, trembling.

Just to steady myself, I go down to look at the Late Show and guess what comes on — Jack Lescoulie selling those cigarettes and saying it couldn't be done. And smiling! Boy, can that man open his mouth. He must have taken lessons.

So just to get away from Lescoulie, I switch over to Jack Paar. And guess who's on the Paar show — Betty White! There's a girl who hasn't stopped smiling since she was 3, and somebody told her she had pretty dimples and that did it! She hasn't closed her face since.

When I was a kid, there was a movie going around called "The Man Who Laughs," and, as I recall the story, it was about a kid who gets caught by gypsies who carve a smile on his face, so he has to go through life with a perpetual laugh on his puss.

Well, sir, I think these gypsies are still operating, I think they've caught all the singers and the entire panel of "What's My Line?" or, for that matter, the entire panel of anything. All of 'em smiling like they don't know how to unhood it. (All of them except Joey Bishop. Joey Bishop plays "Keep Taliing" the way other people play chess. He plays for keeps, that boy.)

I'M NOT the only one with this obsession about the smiling. The other day I was reading Marya Mannes' book, "More in Anger" (which is a very provocative book. Go buy it! NOW!), and I ran across the following:

"The Rheingold Girls smile too much. People in television commercials smile too much, families in magazines smile too much, and government leaders smile too much. The American flag is one large grin. Everyone wants to be liked.

"The obsessive need to be liked, rather than respected, has become the soft core of our state and our state of mind; as common to the White House as it is to a soft drink ad. In a society of selling you cannot afford to offend the customers. You must try, therefore, to please all.

"Now there is clearly nothing wrong with a smile. It can illumine and often make beautiful features dimmed by passivity or grooved by sadness.

"The smile I am speaking of, and which so many wear so much, is less an expression of joy than the muscular reflex of popularity. No better or more horrible example of this exists than the simle of television masters of ceremonies or the sellers of products: A smile directed at all and therefore at no one, a mass ingratiation wholly devoid of feeling.

"This kind of promiscuity — for it is exactly that — robs a man both of his dignity and his virility. Poets, dreamers, lovers, fighters and saints — the men who conquer the imagination either through the power of their spirit or the force of their sex — have features more often composed of inner disciplines than fragmented by easy grins. They are not popular here."

Family Picnic Planned For VFW At Wellsville

Wellsville Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647 will hold its annual family picnic Sunday, beginning at noon, at the John Prokop property on Beaver Creek.

The site is on Route 7 about two miles north of the Super 30 Drive-in Theater. Signs will be posted along the road to direct those who plan to attend.

Emmett Daniels, commander, said only members and their families will be admitted. The women will take a coverdish. Daniels said anyone wanting information or transportation can contact the post at LE 2-1990.

A softball game will be held between the married and single men. Games will be held for the children. Prizes will be awarded.

Live Virus Polio Vaccine Held Unwise

NEW YORK (AP)—Mass vaccination with live virus polio vaccine is unwise at the present time, a group of experts has reported.

The committee reported that the live virus vaccine requires further field trials.

Bosley Enlists Self For Final Hitch In Army

Sgt. Emuel Bosley, local Army recruiter, went through a unique experience last month, re-enlisting himself in the Army for what may be his last hitch.

Sgt. Bosley was one of seven from the county who enlisted through the recruiting office last month.

After completion of the next six years, Sgt. Bosley will be eligible for retirement with a total of 21 years' service. He now has 15 years' service, the last 5 of which have been on recruiting duty in Columbiana County, with his main headquarters in the basement of the East Liverpool Post Office.

Sgt. Bosley served with the paratroops for five years and also received glider training and is a qualified gliderman. He served in Europe during World War II and with the famed 7th Infantry Division's 31st Regiment in the Korean War.

A machine gunner, he earned the expert combat infantry badge and a Bronze Star medal during the Korean fighting. After returning to the United States, in 1951, he served as a machine gun instructor for two years with the 101st Airborne Division.

The new recruits were enlisted in the fields of their choice after qualifying at the examining station in Pittsburgh and passing the Army's aptitude test. They now are receiving basic training at Ft. Jackson, S. C., before starting specialized schooling.

The new recruits include Raymond N. Hummel Jr., son of R. N. Hummel of Wood Alley, who enlisted for three years and chose the electrical equipment maintenance career field.

Boyd W. Penn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Penn of Irondale and a June graduate of Irondale High School, selected assignment in the Army Security Agency.

Warren Gullett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gullett of Leetonia R. D. 1, and Herbert D. Nannah, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nannah of Salem, enlisted in the Army Cryptography School. George E. Martin, son of Mrs. Virgie J. Hardway of Leetonia R. D. 1, selected assignment to the radio and carrier repair career group.

The recruiting office is open each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and from 9 a. m. to noon on Saturday.

I turned it on one day to test the wattage of John Raitt and, by George, the needle blew right through the wall.

I tell you they don't make a Smile-o-Meter that can stand up against that man's dental work.

A FEW MINUTES later, Miss Janet Blair came on and turned on her bridgework, blinding three of the children.

You mustn't get the idea that I don't like a nice smile now and then. It's just that enough is enough. Putting Janet Blair and John Raitt on the same show is like plugging in the sewing machine into Hoover Dam. It's too much. Much too much.

The combined candlepower of Miss Blair and Mr. Raitt is a national asset, but I feel strongly it should be saved for a national emergency, like making tankers during World War III, maybe.

And believe me, they're not the only ones. Everybody's smiling up a storm this summer. I mean, just to pick a show at random, there's Dave King who is presiding over the Kraft Music Hall and doing a perfectly marvelous job of it. But he never closes his mouth! Never, never!

Have you ever been in a climate where it never rains? Where the sun shines all the time? I tell you you go out of your mind. You find yourself staring haggardly at the skyline, praying for a cloud.

WELL, IT'S LIKE that with all that smiling.

I have nightmares now. First there's the tightening of the throat, then I have this terrible premonition that Janet Blair is at the foot of the bed — smiling, smiling, smiling! I wake up screaming, sweating, trembling.

Just to steady myself, I go down to look at the Late Show and guess what comes on — Jack Lescoulie selling those cigarettes and saying it couldn't be done. And smiling! Boy, can that man open his mouth. He must have taken lessons.

So just to get away from Lescoulie, I switch over to Jack Paar. And guess who's on the Paar show — Betty White! There's a girl who hasn't stopped smiling since she was 3, and somebody told her she had pretty dimples and that did it! She hasn't closed her face since.

When I was a kid, there was a movie going around called "The Man Who Laughs," and, as I recall the story, it was about a kid who gets caught by gypsies who carve a smile on his face, so he has to go through life with a perpetual laugh on his puss.

Well, sir, I think these gypsies are still operating, I think they've caught all the singers and the entire panel of "What's My Line?" or, for that matter, the entire panel of anything. All of 'em smiling like they don't know how to unhood it. (All of them except Joey Bishop. Joey Bishop plays "Keep Taliing" the way other people play chess. He plays for keeps, that boy.)

I'M NOT the only one with this obsession about the smiling. The other day I was reading Marya Mannes' book, "More in Anger" (which is a very provocative book. Go buy it! NOW!), and I ran across the following:

"The Rheingold Girls smile too much. People in television commercials smile too much, families in magazines smile too much, and government leaders smile too much. The American flag is one large grin. Everyone wants to be liked.

"The obsessive need to be liked, rather than respected, has become the soft core of our state and our state of mind; as common to the White House as it is to a soft drink ad. In a society of selling you cannot afford to offend the customers. You must try, therefore, to please all.

"Now there is clearly nothing wrong with a smile. It can illumine and often make beautiful features dimmed by passivity or grooved by sadness.

"The smile I am speaking of, and which so many wear so much, is less an expression of joy than the muscular reflex of popularity. No better or more horrible example of this exists than the simle of television masters of ceremonies or the sellers of products: A smile directed at all and therefore at no one, a mass ingratiation wholly devoid of feeling.

"This kind of promiscuity — for it is exactly that — robs a man both of his dignity and his virility. Poets, dreamers, lovers, fighters and saints — the men who conquer the imagination either through the power of their spirit or the force of their sex — have features more often composed of inner disciplines than fragmented by easy grins. They are not popular here."

Mother And Daughter Fine, But Father—

AVOCA, N.Y. (AP) — Mother and daughter are doing fine, but father has some explaining to do.

James H. Young, 33, a migrant worker, "borrowed" a police car Tuesday when he couldn't find anyone to take his expectant wife to a hospital.

He turned on the siren and the blinking red light and started for the hospital in Bath, five miles away. Police in another car caught up and stopped him.

They let him continue to the hospital, but charged him with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Live Virus Polio Vaccine Held Unwise

NEW YORK (AP)—Mass vaccination with live virus polio vaccine is unwise at the present time, a group of experts has reported.

The vaccine advisory committee of the National Foundation recommended Tuesday that the Salk vaccine, which uses viruses already killed, be continued as the major weapon against polio.

The committee reported that the live virus vaccine requires further field trials.

Bosley Enlists Self For Final Hitch In Army

Sgt. Emuel Bosley, local Army recruiter, went through a unique experience last month, re-enlisting himself in the Army for what may be his last hitch.

Sgt. Bosley was one of seven from the county who enlisted through the recruiting office last month.

After completion of the next six years, Sgt. Bosley will be eligible for retirement with a total of 21 years' service. He now has 15 years' service, the last 5 of which have been on recruiting duty in Columbiana County, with his main headquarters in the basement of the East Liverpool Post Office.

Sgt. Bosley served with the paratroops for five years and also received glider training and is a qualified gliderman. He served in Europe during World War II and with the famed 7th Infantry Division's 31st Regiment in the Korean War.

A machine gunner, he earned the expert combat infantry badge and a Bronze Star medal during the Korean fighting. After returning to the United States, in 1951, he served as a machine gun instructor for two years with the 101st Airborne Division.

The new recruits were enlisted in the fields of their choice after qualifying at the examining station in Pittsburgh and passing the Army's aptitude test. They now are receiving basic training at Ft. Jackson, S. C., before starting specialized schooling.

The new recruits include Raymond N. Hummel Jr., son of R. N. Hummel of Wood Alley, who enlisted for three years and chose the electrical equipment maintenance career field.

Boyd W. Penn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Penn of Irondale and a June graduate of Irondale High School, selected assignment in the Army Security Agency.

Warren Gullett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gullett of Leetonia R. D. 1, and Herbert D. Nannah, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nannah of Salem, enlisted in the Army Cryptography School. George E. Martin, son of Mrs. Virgie J. Hardway of Leetonia R. D. 1, selected assignment to the radio and carrier repair career group.

The recruiting office is open each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and from 9 a. m. to noon on Saturday.

Double Enrollments Loom

Congress Asked To Change Policy On Aid To Colleges

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — Dr. Arthur S. Flemming says the time is here for the federal government to become "an effective partner in higher education."

The former Ohio educator, now U. S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, called on Congress to change its present policy of aiding only state supported colleges and universities.

Flemming said with enrollments expected to double in 10 years, "every accredited institution of higher learning is a national asset." He termed it a "National obligation" to make funds available to all non-profit schools that want them.

The cabinet officer spoke to the final session of the three-day National Conference on Regional Education which ended here yesterday. Three regional educational agencies — from New England, the South and the West — sponsored the conference on the 10th anniversary of the Southern Regional Education Board.

The governors of West Virginia, Delaware, Nevada and Tennessee joined some 140 top educators and government officials from the 35 states represented by the three regional compacts.

"I'll see what I can do about it," he promised the conference.

Emphasizing that he didn't consider this the time for all - out federal assistance" to colleges, Flemming asked the three regional groups to help clarify what was the "fair share of responsibility" between state and federal governments and private organizations.

Flemming said he preferred federal assistance to be given toward the building of new classrooms and dormitories. He said by paying their own operating expenses colleges could avoid much federal control.

"Please don't take this as just another after - luncheon talk," Flemming told the national conference. "Accept this as an invitation to sit down and talk with me and my associates.

"Your three organizations reach out to the grass roots of America. If you could decide on our needs, there would begin to evolve a national goal."

Flemming said the nation needs "to get off dead center" and tackle the problems of the most critical period higher education has ever faced in the United States.

Others include Diane E. Moore, 216 Wells Ave., Wellsville; Richard J. Gabriel of Leetonia, and George J. Buta and Paul R. Miller, both of Salem.

New Impasse Reached About Repatriation

GENEVA (AP) — Japan and North Korea reached a new impasse today in negotiations for the repatriation of thousands of Koreans.

The Japanese government refused to sanction any agreement sending Koreans to Communist territory until the International Red Cross approved the pact.

President Leopold Brossier of the International Red Cross insisted his organization could not rule on any pact until it was signed.

Lisbon Board Sets $402,451 In New Budget

LISBON — A tentative budget of $402,451 for 1960 was approved by the Village Board of Education Tuesday night.

The budget estimates 1960 income at $428,899. The 1959 fiscal picture, based on estimates for the last half of the year, shows receipts of $408,379 and expenditures of $395,070.

The board also hired three new teachers.

Gary Pike, a 7th gradeteacher last year and assistant basketball coach, will be elevated to head basketball coach this year to replace Jack Mills, who resigned.

Andrew R. Timko, 22, of Campbell, a graduate of Ohio University, was hired to teach high school social studies and driver training. He succeeds Albert Smith of Salineville, who resigned to go to Florida to teach.

Carl Flitcraft Jr., 22, a graduate of Mt. Union College and a teacher at Leetonia School last year, will teach high school arithmetic and 8th grade science. He lives in Leetonia. He is a graduate of Salem High School.

Barbara Dei, 22, of Wheeling, a graduate of West Liberty State Teachers College, will teach high school English and speech. She replaces Miss Nancy Bauknecht, who resigned to further her education.

The board also authorized expenditure of $2,325 for repairs on seven school buses to get them in shape for the coming school year.

The board authorized Ruth Ann Kosower and Paul Kosower to attend Lisbon schools if they desire. They live in Leetonia District, but have attended Lisbon schools. Ruth Ann will be a senior and Paul, a sophomore. He wishes to take Latin next year. Leetonia schools will not teach second year Latin next year, but will have a class in the 1960-1961 term.

Bids will be sought for roofing the original high school and the study hall. They are expected to be opened Aug. 3.

Twelve blinds for high school windows were purchased from the Dorrance Furniture Co. at a cost of $118. Purchase of 22 copies of the book, "Beginning Mechanical Drawing," was recommended at a cost of $15.40.

Supt. Loren Early advised the board that damage at Lincoln School caused by recent rains will not amount to as much as was originally estimated. Adjusters estimated the damage at approximately $500. Bricker and Bricker, contractors, will be asked to pay for the damages. First estimates were set at $5,000.

Another discussion was held in regards to a walk-in freezer at Lincoln School. The estimated cost of operation and installation will be considered before a purchase is made. Final details may be available at the next meeting July 21 at 7:30 p. m.

The journey by Capt. Robert Scott to the South Pole in 1912 was the longest ever made in the polar regions by sledge. Scott and his party covered 1,842 miles in a continuous journey.

Here's New Angle For Anglers: Let Fish Catch You

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Here's a new angle for the hardluck angler: Let the fish catch you.

Bare, division of wildlife enforcement officer, and Eckert, Dayton Journal Herald outdoor writer, were cruising down the Stillwater River here Tuesday, looking for illegal trotlines or fish traps—and fishing at the same time.

After several hours without a bite, Bare's line became snagged on the bottom and Eckert paddled their canoe toward the snag. That's when a two-pound, small-mouth bass jumped out of the river and hit Eckert in the back.

Eckert fought to grab the fish, Bare fought to stay in the canoe and the bass fought to get out of it.

Who won?

Double Enrollments Loom

Congress Asked To Change Policy On Aid To Colleges

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — Dr. Arthur S. Flemming says the time is here for the federal government to become "an effective partner in higher education."

The former Ohio educator, now U. S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, called on Congress to change its present policy of aiding only state supported colleges and universities.

Flemming said with enrollments expected to double in 10 years, "every accredited institution of higher learning is a national asset." He termed it a "National obligation" to make funds available to all non-profit schools that want them.

The cabinet officer spoke to the final session of the three-day National Conference on Regional Education which ended here yesterday. Three regional educational agencies — from New England, the South and the West — sponsored the conference on the 10th anniversary of the Southern Regional Education Board.

The governors of West Virginia, Delaware, Nevada and Tennessee joined some 140 top educators and government officials from the 35 states represented by the three regional compacts.

"I'll see what I can do about it," he promised the conference.

Emphasizing that he didn't consider this the time for all - out federal assistance" to colleges, Flemming asked the three regional groups to help clarify what was the "fair share of responsibility" between state and federal governments and private organizations.

Flemming said he preferred federal assistance to be given toward the building of new classrooms and dormitories. He said by paying their own operating expenses colleges could avoid much federal control.

"Please don't take this as just another after - luncheon talk," Flemming told the national conference. "Accept this as an invitation to sit down and talk with me and my associates.

"Your three organizations reach out to the grass roots of America. If you could decide on our needs, there would begin to evolve a national goal."

Flemming said the nation needs "to get off dead center" and tackle the problems of the most critical period higher education has ever faced in the United States.

6 County Students Gain Kent State Dean's List

Six Columbiana County students attending Kent State University attained the dean's list for the spring quarter in the college of arts and sciences, with a 3.0 grade average or better.

Two of the students are from East Liverpool. They are Mary E. Buchheit, 241 Church Ln., and Judith A. Robinson, 600 W. 9th St.

New Impasse Reached About Repatriation

GENEVA (AP) — Japan and North Korea reached a new impasse today in negotiations for the repatriation of thousands of Koreans.

The Japanese government refused to sanction any agreement sending Koreans to Communist territory until the International Red Cross approved the pact.

Lisbon Board Sets $402,451 In New Budget

LISBON — A tentative budget of $402,451 for 1960 was approved by the Village Board of Education Tuesday night.

The budget estimates 1960 income at $428,899. The 1959 fiscal picture, based on estimates for the last half of the year, shows receipts of $408,379 and expenditures of $395,070.

The board also hired three new teachers.

Gary Pike, a 7th gradeteacher last year and assistant basketball coach, will be elevated to head basketball coach this year to replace Jack Mills, who resigned.

Andrew R. Timko, 22, of Campbell, a graduate of Ohio University, was hired to teach high school social studies and driver training. He succeeds Albert Smith of Salineville, who resigned to go to Florida to teach.

Carl Flitcraft Jr., 22, a graduate of Mt. Union College and a teacher at Leetonia School last year, will teach high school arithmetic and 8th grade science. He lives in Leetonia. He is a graduate of Salem High School.

Barbara Dei, 22, of Wheeling, a graduate of West Liberty State Teachers College, will teach high school English and speech. She replaces Miss Nancy Bauknecht, who resigned to further her education.

The board also authorized expenditure of $2,325 for repairs on seven school buses to get them in shape for the coming school year.

The board authorized Ruth Ann Kosower and Paul Kosower to attend Lisbon schools if they desire. They live in Leetonia District, but have attended Lisbon schools. Ruth Ann will be a senior and Paul, a sophomore. He wishes to take Latin next year. Leetonia schools will not teach second year Latin next year, but will have a class in the 1960-1961 term.

Bids will be sought for roofing the original high school and the study hall. They are expected to be opened Aug. 3.

Twelve blinds for high school windows were purchased from the Dorrance Furniture Co. at a cost of $118. Purchase of 22 copies of the book, "Beginning Mechanical Drawing," was recommended at a cost of $15.40.

Supt. Loren Early advised the board that damage at Lincoln School caused by recent rains will not amount to as much as was originally estimated. Adjusters estimated the damage at approximately $500. Bricker and Bricker, contractors, will be asked to pay for the damages. First estimates were set at $5,000.

Another discussion was held in regards to a walk-in freezer at Lincoln School. The estimated cost of operation and installation will be considered before a purchase is made. Final details may be available at the next meeting July 21 at 7:30 p. m.

The journey by Capt. Robert Scott to the South Pole in 1912 was the longest ever made in the polar regions by sledge. Scott and his party covered 1,842 miles in a continuous journey.

Here's New Angle For Anglers: Let Fish Catch You

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Here's a new angle for the hardluck angler: Let the fish catch you.

Bare, division of wildlife enforcement officer, and Eckert, Dayton Journal Herald outdoor writer, were cruising down the Stillwater River here Tuesday, looking for illegal trotlines or fish traps—and fishing at the same time.

After several hours without a bite, Bare's line became snagged on the bottom and Eckert paddled their canoe toward the snag. That's when a two-pound, small-mouth bass jumped out of the river and hit Eckert in the back.

Eckert fought to grab the fish, Bare fought to stay in the canoe and the bass fought to get out of it.

Who won?

27 Pilots, Copilots To Race Clock In Powder Puff Derby

The lady fliers had a noon (PST) deadline, uncertain weather and distances ranging from 250 to 720 miles. But race officials predicted that most of them would beat the deadline with a decent break in the weather.

Twelve of the planes were scheduled to depart at sunrise from Miles City, Mont., 720 miles from the finish here. The rest spent the night at Helena. Race regulations prohibit night flying.

Race rules stipulate that all aircraft stay over at designated stops after sunset. Miles City and Helena were the only approved stops in Montana.

Bad weather which plagued the 2,470-mile race since its start at Lawrence, Mass., last Saturday was responsible for the disqualifications Tuesday night. Twenty-six planes have completed the trip.

Champion and placement ratings will be announced Thursday. They are computed on a handicap basis with each plane's capability and elapsed flying time taken into consideration.

The eight pilots disqualified Tuesday night included Margaret Calloway of Wilmington, Ohio and Margaret M. Hammon of Dayton, Ohio.

'Worse Than Stalin'

Talks With Khrushchev Shocking, Harriman Says

NEW YORK (AP)—W. Averell Harriman describes his recent talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as "terrifying, shocking, worse than Stalin."

His account is carried in the current issue of Life magazine. The quotation, according to Life, was contained in Harriman's report to Washington.

In his signed article in the magazine, Harriman says Khrushchev told him, in "blunt and brutal language" that:

"Your generals talk of maintaining your position in Berlin with force. That is bluff. If you send in tanks, they will burn, and make no mistake about it. If you want war, you can have it, but remember it will be your war. Our rockets will fly automatically."

Life also reported that Harriman told Washington that Khrushchev said the Soviet Union has shipped numerous rockets to Red China. These have been planted behind the coastline, according to the report, but have the range to blast the Nationalist fortress of Formosa.

If Red China decides to try to take Formosa, it can count on Soviet help, including direct military intervention — even if it means war—according to this report. Khrushchev also was said to have added that Communist strength is sufficient to destroy the U.S. 7th Fleet, now patrolling the Formosa Strait area.

Harriman said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will be just as stubborn and inflexible when the Geneva talks resume July 13 as he was before the talks adjourned.

Harriman declared he is convinced that there should be a summit conference, and that the West should seize every opportunity to deal directly with Khrushchev, "since he alone determines Soviet foreign policy."

The State Department said the Soviet leader recently had made a number of tough statements, and denied any alarm.

Trio To Face Hearings On Kidnap Count

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. VA. (AP)—Three teen-age reformatory inmates, charged with kidnaping a young secretary and threatening to kill her if she resisted, get preliminary hearings today.

The trio took Sandra Lynne McKeen, 18, for an 80-mile ride Tuesday but were captured less than five hours after their escape, as they tried to get food and money for a trip to Florida. Miss McKeen was not harmed.

Larry Anthony Rector and Roger Lee Morse, both 16, and Patrick Jarrell, 17, were charged with kidnaping and grand larceny. The reformatory superintendent, Richard L. Young, said they would be given preliminary hearings before Magistrate W. C. Lawson.

The trio escaped from the State Industrial School for Boys at Pruntytown, near Grafton in north-central West Virginia. They were captured 10 miles south of this Ohio River town by Sheriff Shannon W. Westerman and other officers because Westerman thought to go to Rector's old neighborhood, where his mother still lives.

Miss McKeen is a plain-looking girl with straight blonde hair and glasses. Young and law officers said she told them it was her custom to take a drive after having lunch in the employes' cafeteria.

She had just returned and was parking her car when the three boys sidled up, opened the door and climbed in.

One of them brandished a knife and another handed her a note which said, "If you don't do what we say or try to get help we'll kill you."

Rector and Jarrell were taken at a shack near the home of Rector's mother, as they tried to obtain food and money from her. Young said the mother prevented Rector from getting a rifle — "wrestled with him and cried" as he tried to take the weapon.

The third fugitive, Moore, had left the others to go on foot through the woods and was captured in an adjoining county.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I, when painting outdoors, avoid having insects land on my fresh paint job and stick there?

A. Add a little oil of wintergreen or oil of citronella to your paint, about one tablespoon per gallon. This will repel the bugs, and still will not affect the texture of your paint.

Q. How can I sharpen a knife?

A. Fold a piece of emery paper in the center and draw the knife blade back and forth several times inside this.

Q. Do you know of a quick and easy method of purifying one's breath?

A. Try sucking on a lemon, following this with a good drink of cold water.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Size 14 Possible At 153 Pounds?

The variety of letters which come from you readers forms the basis of this column. Some of the letters are wonderfully friendly, others provocative, some pleading . . . but all of them are stimulating.

Ida Jean Kain

So let's take excerpts from the current crop. The first one is from a New Yorker:

"Just read the controversy about the woman who claims to wear size 14 at 153 pounds. I believe her! I weigh 156 for 5 feet 6, bust 39, waist 27, and hips 38 and I can wear size 14. Granted, my dresses are cut full through the bust, and I can't go into a store and put on any size 14, but this letter is to prove that it's possible at this weight to wear size 14. . .and it's not tight, either. I look slimmer than my 156 pounds, my age is 30, and I've always exercise and danced."

THE CLUE: That slim waist measure permits this reader to wear a size 14. All those who are skeptical, try whittling the waist to a svelte 27 inches.

A Michigan dieter is puzzled about protein. She writes: "Is there such a thing as a high protein diet, and is it true that protein eats up the fat in the body?"

If this were true, then the more protein you ate, the thinner you would become — which, of course, is not true. Excess protein is burned for fuel. However, protein, because of its stimulating effect on metabolism, acts differently in the body than do other fuel foods. The body has no capacity for any large storage of protein, so it might be said that an excess tends to burn itself off.

But any protein above that needed for repair work is used for fuel, and the calories must be counted.

On the metabolism score, there is this difference: The rise in metabolism after eating 100 calories in protein is 30 to 40 percent, as compared with a rise of 6 percent from carbohydrates and about that rise from fats.

For this reason, you tend to lose more weight on a diet that has a higher proportion of calories in protein than you can on a high carbohydrate diet. On the satiety score, protein sticks to the ribs longer and helps you to feel content between low calorie meals.

For effective hunger control, have a complete protein food with each meal. For breakfast, have an egg or two, or some lean meat with an egg, or cereal with milk.

FOR LUNCH have broiled fish, a generous serving of cottage cheese (½ cup), or a two-egg omelet if cereal is eaten at breakfast. At dinner have a generous serving of lean meat, 4 to 6 ounces cooked weight. To subtract calories, remove all trimmable fat.

Since my space is limited, we'll talk more about a balanced reducing diet in tomorrow's column.

"The Hunger Control Diet" includes a complete protein at each of the three daily meals, plus a protein pick-up in the afternoon. Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for a copy of the diet. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Effort Urge To Override Housing Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) said today President Eisenhower's veto of the housing bill showed that Democrats had adopted the wrong strategy in cutting the measure down.

"It was supposed to be veto-proof when we sent it to him, but the proofing didn't work very well," Douglas told a reporter. "We would have done better to send him a stronger bill, to make the issue clear."

The $1,375,000,000 bill Eisenhower rejected Tuesday was cut down from larger programs passed separately by the House and Senate. But most of the cut was accomplished by limiting it to two years, leaving the annual spending rate much higher than Eisenhower asked.

Douglas and Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa), both advocates of broad housing legislation, said they hoped the Senate leadership would call for a vote on overriding the veto even if the effort falls short of the necessary two-thirds.

Sen. Thomas H. Kurchel (R-Calif), the Republican whip, said in a separate interview he did not think there would be such a test.

"I'm sure they don't have the votes to override," he said. "All they could do would be to put some Republicans from certain states on the spot and to try to win a political advantage."

In the House, Chairman Albert Rains (D-Ala) of the Housing subcommittee said he would attempt to have the veto overridden. But most House leaders were waiting to see what action the Senate might take.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), although vigorously assailing the veto, hasn't indicated what course he favors. Neither the Senate nor the House originally passed the bill by the two-thirds margin that would be required to upset a veto.

The Senate must act first on overriding because the bill originated there. The vote could come any time in this Congress.

27 Pilots, Copilots To Race Clock In Powder Puff Derby

The lady fliers had a noon (PST) deadline, uncertain weather and distances ranging from 250 to 720 miles. But race officials predicted that most of them would beat the deadline with a decent break in the weather.

Twelve of the planes were scheduled to depart at sunrise from Miles City, Mont., 720 miles from the finish here. The rest spent the night at Helena. Race regulations prohibit night flying.

Race rules stipulate that all aircraft stay over at designated stops after sunset. Miles City and Helena were the only approved stops in Montana.

Bad weather which plagued the 2,470-mile race since its start at Lawrence, Mass., last Saturday was responsible for the disqualifications Tuesday night. Twenty-six planes have completed the trip.

Champion and placement ratings will be announced Thursday. They are computed on a handicap basis with each plane's capability and elapsed flying time taken into consideration.

The eight pilots disqualified Tuesday night included Margaret Calloway of Wilmington, Ohio and Margaret M. Hammon of Dayton, Ohio.

'Worse Than Stalin'

Talks With Khrushchev Shocking, Harriman Says

NEW YORK (AP)—W. Averell Harriman describes his recent talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as "terrifying, shocking, worse than Stalin."

His account is carried in the current issue of Life magazine. The quotation, according to Life, was contained in Harriman's report to Washington.

In his signed article in the magazine, Harriman says Khrushchev told him, in "blunt and brutal language" that:

"Your generals talk of maintaining your position in Berlin with force. That is bluff. If you send in tanks, they will burn, and make no mistake about it. If you want war, you can have it, but remember it will be your war. Our rockets will fly automatically."

Life also reported that Harriman told Washington that Khrushchev said the Soviet Union has shipped numerous rockets to Red China. These have been planted behind the coastline, according to the report, but have the range to blast the Nationalist fortress of Formosa.

If Red China decides to try to take Formosa, it can count on Soviet help, including direct military intervention — even if it means war—according to this report. Khrushchev also was said to have added that Communist strength is sufficient to destroy the U.S. 7th Fleet, now patrolling the Formosa Strait area.

Harriman said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will be just as stubborn and inflexible when the Geneva talks resume July 13 as he was before the talks adjourned.

Harriman declared he is convinced that there should be a summit conference, and that the West should seize every opportunity to deal directly with Khrushchev, "since he alone determines Soviet foreign policy."

The State Department said the Soviet leader recently had made a number of tough statements, and denied any alarm.

Trio To Face Hearings On Kidnap Count

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. VA. (AP)—Three teen-age reformatory inmates, charged with kidnaping a young secretary and threatening to kill her if she resisted, get preliminary hearings today.

The trio took Sandra Lynne McKeen, 18, for an 80-mile ride Tuesday but were captured less than five hours after their escape, as they tried to get food and money for a trip to Florida. Miss McKeen was not harmed.

Larry Anthony Rector and Roger Lee Morse, both 16, and Patrick Jarrell, 17, were charged with kidnaping and grand larceny. The reformatory superintendent, Richard L. Young, said they would be given preliminary hearings before Magistrate W. C. Lawson.

The trio escaped from the State Industrial School for Boys at Pruntytown, near Grafton in north-central West Virginia. They were captured 10 miles south of this Ohio River town by Sheriff Shannon W. Westerman and other officers because Westerman thought to go to Rector's old neighborhood, where his mother still lives.

Miss McKeen is a plain-looking girl with straight blonde hair and glasses. Young and law officers said she told them it was her custom to take a drive after having lunch in the employes' cafeteria.

She had just returned and was parking her car when the three boys sidled up, opened the door and climbed in.

One of them brandished a knife and another handed her a note which said, "If you don't do what we say or try to get help we'll kill you."

Rector and Jarrell were taken at a shack near the home of Rector's mother, as they tried to obtain food and money from her. Young said the mother prevented Rector from getting a rifle — "wrestled with him and cried" as he tried to take the weapon.

The third fugitive, Moore, had left the others to go on foot through the woods and was captured in an adjoining county.

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I, when painting outdoors, avoid having insects land on my fresh paint job and stick there?

A. Add a little oil of wintergreen or oil of citronella to your paint, about one tablespoon per gallon. This will repel the bugs, and still will not affect the texture of your paint.

Q. How can I sharpen a knife?

A. Fold a piece of emery paper in the center and draw the knife blade back and forth several times inside this.

Q. Do you know of a quick and easy method of purifying one's breath?

A. Try sucking on a lemon, following this with a good drink of cold water.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Size 14 Possible At 153 Pounds?

The variety of letters which come from you readers forms the basis of this column. Some of the letters are wonderfully friendly, others provocative, some pleading . . . but all of them are stimulating.

Ida Jean Kain

So let's take excerpts from the current crop. The first one is from a New Yorker:

"Just read the controversy about the woman who claims to wear size 14 at 153 pounds. I believe her! I weigh 156 for 5 feet 6, bust 39, waist 27, and hips 38 and I can wear size 14. Granted, my dresses are cut full through the bust, and I can't go into a store and put on any size 14, but this letter is to prove that it's possible at this weight to wear size 14. . .and it's not tight, either. I look slimmer than my 156 pounds, my age is 30, and I've always exercise and danced."

THE CLUE: That slim waist measure permits this reader to wear a size 14. All those who are skeptical, try whittling the waist to a svelte 27 inches.

A Michigan dieter is puzzled about protein. She writes: "Is there such a thing as a high protein diet, and is it true that protein eats up the fat in the body?"

If this were true, then the more protein you ate, the thinner you would become — which, of course, is not true. Excess protein is burned for fuel. However, protein, because of its stimulating effect on metabolism, acts differently in the body than do other fuel foods. The body has no capacity for any large storage of protein, so it might be said that an excess tends to burn itself off.

But any protein above that needed for repair work is used for fuel, and the calories must be counted.

On the metabolism score, there is this difference: The rise in metabolism after eating 100 calories in protein is 30 to 40 percent, as compared with a rise of 6 percent from carbohydrates and about that rise from fats.

For this reason, you tend to lose more weight on a diet that has a higher proportion of calories in protein than you can on a high carbohydrate diet. On the satiety score, protein sticks to the ribs longer and helps you to feel content between low calorie meals.

For effective hunger control, have a complete protein food with each meal. For breakfast, have an egg or two, or some lean meat with an egg, or cereal with milk.

FOR LUNCH have broiled fish, a generous serving of cottage cheese (½ cup), or a two-egg omelet if cereal is eaten at breakfast. At dinner have a generous serving of lean meat, 4 to 6 ounces cooked weight. To subtract calories, remove all trimmable fat.

Since my space is limited, we'll talk more about a balanced reducing diet in tomorrow's column.

"The Hunger Control Diet" includes a complete protein at each of the three daily meals, plus a protein pick-up in the afternoon. Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for a copy of the diet. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Effort Urge To Override Housing Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) said today President Eisenhower's veto of the housing bill showed that Democrats had adopted the wrong strategy in cutting the measure down.

"It was supposed to be veto-proof when we sent it to him, but the proofing didn't work very well," Douglas told a reporter. "We would have done better to send him a stronger bill, to make the issue clear."

The $1,375,000,000 bill Eisenhower rejected Tuesday was cut down from larger programs passed separately by the House and Senate. But most of the cut was accomplished by limiting it to two years, leaving the annual spending rate much higher than Eisenhower asked.

Douglas and Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa), both advocates of broad housing legislation, said they hoped the Senate leadership would call for a vote on overriding the veto even if the effort falls short of the necessary two-thirds.

Sen. Thomas H. Kurchel (R-Calif), the Republican whip, said in a separate interview he did not think there would be such a test.

"I'm sure they don't have the votes to override," he said. "All they could do would be to put some Republicans from certain states on the spot and to try to win a political advantage."

In the House, Chairman Albert Rains (D-Ala) of the Housing subcommittee said he would attempt to have the veto overridden. But most House leaders were waiting to see what action the Senate might take.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), although vigorously assailing the veto, hasn't indicated what course he favors. Neither the Senate nor the House originally passed the bill by the two-thirds margin that would be required to upset a veto.

The Senate must act first on overriding because the bill originated there. The vote could come any time in this Congress.

Nationals Roar From Behind To Edge Americans, 5-4

Mays Hits Triple To Decide Contest

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Manager Fred Haney plans to use the same starting lineup in next month's All Star game in Los Angeles as the one which defeated the American League 5 - 4 for the National League's first victory in three years.

The American League squad, however, may have a few new faces. That was losing manager Casey Stengel's ill - concealed threat Tuesday after his athletes let the game slip out of their hands after coming from behind with a three-run rally in the top of the eighth inning.

"I got four or five fellows in mind I'd like to have for the next game," he said. "And I'm going to use a couple of them, too. And nobody is going to pick 'em but me."

Stengel didn't single out any player for the blame in the defeat but he made no bones about the fact that he wasn't satisfied with the pitching of Whitey Ford, his own star left-hander on the Yankees.

Ford was on the mound when the Nationals roared back with two runs in the bottom half of the eighth to overcome a 4-3 deficit.

Stengel also might have felt that if Mickey Mantle, his limping slugger, had been playing in center field, he might have caught up with Willie Mays' booming triple in the eighth that drove in the payoff run.

The ball, which Mays later admitted was the hardest he has hit all season, sailed over Harvey Kuenn's head and bounced against the right-center field wall. Kuenn, Detroit's right fielder, had replaced Al Kaline in center. Mantle, who normally would have played there, was in right field because of a sprained ankle.

"They (the Nationals) played worse than we did," he said. "But they won and that's what counts. Those guys were lucky we didn't score more runs in the eighth, or else they were just playing with us when they let us fill the bases twice. It took a great catch to beat us."

Casey probably was referring to Hank Aaron's fine catch off Gus Triandos with two mates on base. That occurred in the fourth inning when the Americans scored their first run, on Kaline's homer. Two hits followed but Aaron prevented further scoring with his running catch in right center.

Haney, on the other hand, had nothing but praise for all his players. The little Milwaukee skipper, happy as a lark over his team's come-from-behind triumph, hailed his first win in two All-Star managerial efforts, a team victory.

Haney declined to take any credit even though it was his strategy that set up the tying run in the eighth inning when the Nationals scored twice to overcome a 4-3 deficit. Kenny Boyer of St. Louis, batting for winning pitcher Johnny Antonelli, singled to open it. Haney sent up Pittsburgh's Dick Groat to hit for Eddie Mathews although the National League's home run leader had socked a four-bagger in the opening inning. Groat laid down a neat sacrifice and Aaron came through with a sharp single to score Boyer with the tying run.

Haney made just two changes, at second and third base. Six players — Mays, Aaron, Banks, Orlando Cepeda, Wally Moon and Del Crandall—went all the way.

Stengel used 22 players, one short of the record. He had six different men batting in the seventh spot.

Antonelli, who threw six pitches in putting out the fire in the eighth, was credited with the victory but the best pitching was done by Don Drysdale. The Los Angeles right - hander, honored with the starting assignment, retired all nine batters he faced, striking out four. Lew Burdette gave up one run in the middle three innings.

Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's unbeaten relief pitcher, was the victim of the Americans' eighth-inning outburst. After retiring the first five batters he faced, Elroy suddenly lost his stuff, yielding three hits and two walks with two out in the eighth. The most damaging blow was Triandos' bases-loaded double.

Ted Williams drew a walk as a pinch hitter in the midst of the rally. Stan Musial had popped out in a pinch hit role earlier in the game.

'Hardest Hit Of Season,' Mays Says After Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Mays is hitting a cool .400 in All-Star competition. The San Francisco center fielder seems to be able to rise to the occasion.

Willie's tremendous triple to the ivy-covered wall in right center field in the eighth inning drove home the winning run in the National League's 5-4 victory over the American League Tuesday at Forbes Field.

"Was that the hardest hit ball by you this season?" a fellow asked Mays.

"Man, I don't remember hitting any harder," he answered.

Mays has hit 14 home runs in regular National League play and has knocked in 56 runs while batting .311. None of his hits were as important as the blow off Whitey Ford that broke a two-game National League losing streak.

It was the sixth All-Star game for the 28-year-old speedster who captured the hearts of New York fans at the Polo Grounds before the Giants moved west.

Mays was one of six regulars to go all the way in line with manager Fred Haney's plan to play the game like a regular season contest and not as an exhibition.

Travelers, Chester Win Finals In Little League

The Chester nine squeezed out a 5-4 win over Burbicks while Travelers posted a 6-2 win over Homer Laughlin.

In the other contest, Medics, paced by the hurling of Dave Chetwynd, scored a 5-2 win over McBurneys.

15 Report At Browns' Camp For Quarterbacks

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Fifteen players showed up Tuesday as the Cleveland Browns opened their training camp here for quarterbacks and rookies.

Joining veterans Milt Plum and Jim Ninowski in the quarterback race were Bob Ptacek of Michigan, Hiles Stout of Illinois, Bob Brodhead of Duke and Gordon Helms of Valparaiso.

Dave Lloyd of Georgia, the Browns' fourth draft choice, said he has decided to make his bid for a job with the professional football team although he still has another year left of college eligibility.

Lloyd is a linebacker, highly regarded by coach Paul Brown. Francis O'Brien of Michigan State and Colorado's John Wooten, a pair of big linemen, showed good speed in the opening workout. O'Brien worked as an offensive tackle and Wooten at guard.

Brown said he believes Ohio State's 225-pound Dick Schafrath could play either defensive end or linebacker. Rich Kreitling of Illinois, Cleveland's first draft choice, appeared to have less speed than had been expected from him as an offensive end but he showed he is a good pass receiver.

Two Ohioans who exhibited strong speed were Elbert Dubenion, a flanking back from Bluffton College, and Toledo's Gene Cook, an offensive end. Other newcomers were Joe Cannavino, defensive halfback from Ohio State, and Joe Wenzel, an end from Lehigh.

Burks' One-Hitter Defeats Irondale

Jimmy Burks, a young southpaw, gave up a first inning home run to Martin for the only hit as he pitched the East Liverpool Merchants to a 2-1 victory over Irondale Tuesday at Patterson Field.

The lefty blanked the Irondale nine through the last six innings and didn't give up a hit. He struck out 10 and walked four batters.

Wilks gave the Merchants only three hits, but three errors were committed behind him.

Glenn Barnett, president, said the arbitration board met on a protest of the Lawrenceville-Irondale game last week and has written to state headquarters for a ruling on the disputed play.

Logan Expects To Play This Week At Short

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Two of the Milwaukee Braves' prized cripples — shortstop Johnny Logan and pitcher Bob Buhl — are on the mend.

Both took first workouts Tuesday since recent injuries. Logan said he expects to be ready for parttime duty this week and right-hander Buhl indicated he'll be ready in about two weeks.

The progress reports come as good news for the defending National League champions who have only a shaky three percentage point hold on first place as they prepare to resume league action Thursday night against the pressing Los Angeles Dodgers, only a half-game back in third place. The game opens a five-game home stand for the Braves.

Logan has been out since June 28 when he was spiked on the right ankle by Chicago Cubs hurler Dave Hillman. Twenty stitches were needed to repair the damage. Buhl has been on the sidelines since June 25 with a mysterious shoulder ailment. He spent five days in the hospital.

Logan is having his best season at the plate, hitting .332, second only among the Braves to Hank Aaron who leads the majors with a .370 average. Buhl is 6-5 for the season.

Nationals Roar From Behind To Edge Americans, 5-4

Mays Hits Triple To Decide Contest

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Manager Fred Haney plans to use the same starting lineup in next month's All Star game in Los Angeles as the one which defeated the American League 5 - 4 for the National League's first victory in three years.

The American League squad, however, may have a few new faces. That was losing manager Casey Stengel's ill - concealed threat Tuesday after his athletes let the game slip out of their hands after coming from behind with a three-run rally in the top of the eighth inning.

"I got four or five fellows in mind I'd like to have for the next game," he said. "And I'm going to use a couple of them, too. And nobody is going to pick 'em but me."

Stengel didn't single out any player for the blame in the defeat but he made no bones about the fact that he wasn't satisfied with the pitching of Whitey Ford, his own star left-hander on the Yankees.

Ford was on the mound when the Nationals roared back with two runs in the bottom half of the eighth to overcome a 4-3 deficit.

Stengel also might have felt that if Mickey Mantle, his limping slugger, had been playing in center field, he might have caught up with Willie Mays' booming triple in the eighth that drove in the payoff run.

The ball, which Mays later admitted was the hardest he has hit all season, sailed over Harvey Kuenn's head and bounced against the right-center field wall. Kuenn, Detroit's right fielder, had replaced Al Kaline in center. Mantle, who normally would have played there, was in right field because of a sprained ankle.

"They (the Nationals) played worse than we did," he said. "But they won and that's what counts. Those guys were lucky we didn't score more runs in the eighth, or else they were just playing with us when they let us fill the bases twice. It took a great catch to beat us."

Casey probably was referring to Hank Aaron's fine catch off Gus Triandos with two mates on base. That occurred in the fourth inning when the Americans scored their first run, on Kaline's homer. Two hits followed but Aaron prevented further scoring with his running catch in right center.

Haney, on the other hand, had nothing but praise for all his players. The little Milwaukee skipper, happy as a lark over his team's come-from-behind triumph, hailed his first win in two All-Star managerial efforts, a team victory.

Haney declined to take any credit even though it was his strategy that set up the tying run in the eighth inning when the Nationals scored twice to overcome a 4-3 deficit. Kenny Boyer of St. Louis, batting for winning pitcher Johnny Antonelli, singled to open it. Haney sent up Pittsburgh's Dick Groat to hit for Eddie Mathews although the National League's home run leader had socked a four-bagger in the opening inning. Groat laid down a neat sacrifice and Aaron came through with a sharp single to score Boyer with the tying run.

Haney made just two changes, at second and third base. Six players — Mays, Aaron, Banks, Orlando Cepeda, Wally Moon and Del Crandall—went all the way.

Stengel used 22 players, one short of the record. He had six different men batting in the seventh spot.

Antonelli, who threw six pitches in putting out the fire in the eighth, was credited with the victory but the best pitching was done by Don Drysdale. The Los Angeles right - hander, honored with the starting assignment, retired all nine batters he faced, striking out four. Lew Burdette gave up one run in the middle three innings.

Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's unbeaten relief pitcher, was the victim of the Americans' eighth-inning outburst. After retiring the first five batters he faced, Elroy suddenly lost his stuff, yielding three hits and two walks with two out in the eighth. The most damaging blow was Triandos' bases-loaded double.

Rematch Of 1958 Finalists Features Women's Golf Play

CHICAGO (AP)—A rematch of the 1958 finals is the main attraction in today's second round of the Women's Western Amateur golf tournament at Exmoor Country Club.

Miss McIntire was 2-over-par for the distance needed to trounce Sandra Spuzich, Indianapolis, 6 and 5 in Tuesday's first round. Miss Quast moved up with close-to-par shooting by blasting Frances Rich Bainbridge, Ga., 8 and 7.

Other 1958 Curtis Cup players remaining in the field of 16 survivors were Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa; Polly Riley, Fort Worth, and Jo Anne Gunderson, Seattle.

Among others making the second round were three collegians—Judy Eller, Old Hickory, Tenn., the 1959 National Intercollegiate champion; Mary Mills, Ocean Springs, Miss., the 1959 Intercollegiate medalist; and Judy Bell, a psychology major at Wichita University.

Jets Struggling To Climb Out Of Last Place In IL

By The Associated Press

They hung a 5-2 loss on the Miami Marlins Tuesday night for their fifth victory in the past eight games and could vault into sixth place after tonight's games.

Rochester reduced Buffalo's first place margin to a game and a half Tuesday night with a 4-3 victory while Havana scored five runs in the 14th inning on only one hit for an 11-6 victory. Toronto defeated Montreal 8-6 in the other IL game.

A doubleheader victory over Richmond tonight and losses by seventh-place Toronto to Rochester and by sixth-place Havana to Miami would spring the Jets into daylight. That combination would give them a solid one-game advantage in sixth place.

The Jets also kept their streak against Miami with victory No. 8 in their last 10 meetings. Lynn Lovenguth pitched his first complete game since May 11 with an 8-hitter that was backed up by Tom Burgess' 20th home run, a two-run shot in the sixth inning that junked Herb Moford's two-hitter. Lovenguth is the Jets winningest pitcher now with nine victories.

Coca Cola Scores 19-10 Win In Minors

Coca Cola scored a 19-10 victory over Potters Savings and Loan Tuesday in the Minor Little League.

Hamilton Class C Pace Is Captured By Widower Gus

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Widower Gus, driven by Marion Stephens of Springfield, came from third to first at the one-eighth pole and edged home in front Tuesday night in the Class C pace at the Hamilton Raceway.

Terminal, driven by Sid Spencer, had led until Widower Gus made his bid one eighth of a mile from the finish line. The winner paid $10.40, $4.60 and $3.40.

I. J. Collins, driven by Jule Jouiso of Fayetteville, also made a great stretch drive to win the co-featured Class C trot in 2:09. He trailed Josedale Lordship until the field hit the stretch.

Waterford Betting Up For First 16 Days

Betting at Waterford Park during the first 16 days of the current meeting rose 6.6 per cent to $4,204,735, the track management announced Tuesday.

Hits Me Like He Owns Me, Ford Says Of Mays

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "That Mays," muttered southpaw Whitey Ford after Tuesdays' All-Star game. "He hits me like he owns me."

The Yankee pitcher refered to Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants who tripled off him in the eighth to drive in the winning run for the Nationals.

"Mays has batted against me four times now in All-Star games and hit me each time," Ford said.

15 Ticket Scalpers Are Arrested At Game

Included was Gerald Blanchard, 42, of Youngstown.

Glenmoor Routs Foe In Y-Church League

Wilson Smith clouted three doubles and a single to spark Glenmoor U. P. to a 16-7 win over First Free Methodist in a YMCA-Church Softball contest Tuesday.

To Coach Air Force Team

Jack Mills Resigns Cage Job At Lisbon High School

LISBON — Jack Mills, head basketball coach at Lisbon High School since 1943, has announced his resignation as of Aug. 1. Mills has been basketball coach and assistant football coach to Bud Bucher, the full time except two years in which he served in the Navy during World War II.

Gary Pike, elementary teacher and assistant to Mills, is expected to assume the head job next season. Pike is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Pike, E. Pine St., and a 1958 graduate of Muskingum College where he starred in basketball. He played under Mills at Lisbon.

Mills accepted the post of Athletic Director at Steward Air Force Base, Newburgh, N. Y. and with it goes the head basketball coaching position of the Eastern Air Defense Command team. His headquarters will be at the base which is some 40 miles north of New York City.

His wife and three children will continue to reside at Guilford Lake where the family has made its year-round home for the past nine years. Mrs. Mills will operate the State Auto Insurance Agency which Jack formerly had been engaged in.

This marks the first year for an Eastern Air Defense Command Basketball team. The object is to win the U. S. Air Force title and from there enter the world - wide service tourney with Army, Marine, Navy and Air Force Teams competing. Mills says that many college teams will be booked.

He says he has arranged a tentative date with Youngstown University for 1959 season.

Mills graduated from South Side High School and starred three years at Mt. Union College. He gained All-Ohio first team his sophomore year at Mount Union. He played in this vicinity and Youngstown and he had been affiliated with the famed Youngstown Coaches cage aggregation which competed in area tournaments.

Although he served as a lieutenant in the Navy during World War II, he takes the Air Force post as a civilian. He expects to spend most of his out-of-season weekends at his home. He will be given passage from New York City to Youngstown Airport and return via jet planes.

Halimi Remains Favorite In Title Clash Tonight

By BUD MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Broad-shouldered Alphonse Halimi of France risks his world bantamweight crown in a 15-round fight tonight with the No. 1 contender, Jose Becerra of Mexico.

The 27-year-old French Algerian remained the betting favorite at 2-1 or 8-5.

The scrap goes on at 10 o'clock, Eastern Daylight Time, and will be televised nationally via ABC, with Southern California screened out.

There will be no radio broadcast.

Promoter Cal Eaton predicted a crowd of 15,000 or more would pay upward of $150,000 to see the match, which serves as a kickoff sports event for Los Angeles' new 6 million dollar Memorial sports arena.

"I am ready to fight one to 15 rounds. I fully expect to win," said Halimi.

"I promised my people and the president of Mexico I would win the championship," said the 23-year-old contender with the aid of an interpreter.

Halimi, in the second defense of the title he won April 1, 1957, will pick up a guarantee of $65,000. If he loses, he has a guarantee for a rematch within 90 days.

The fight will be scored on a 10-point per round basis.

Rematch Of 1958 Finalists Features Women's Golf Play

CHICAGO (AP)—A rematch of the 1958 finals is the main attraction in today's second round of the Women's Western Amateur golf tournament at Exmoor Country Club.

Miss McIntire was 2-over-par for the distance needed to trounce Sandra Spuzich, Indianapolis, 6 and 5 in Tuesday's first round. Miss Quast moved up with close-to-par shooting by blasting Frances Rich Bainbridge, Ga., 8 and 7.

Other 1958 Curtis Cup players remaining in the field of 16 survivors were Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa; Polly Riley, Fort Worth, and Jo Anne Gunderson, Seattle.

Among others making the second round were three collegians—Judy Eller, Old Hickory, Tenn., the 1959 National Intercollegiate champion; Mary Mills, Ocean Springs, Miss., the 1959 Intercollegiate medalist; and Judy Bell, a psychology major at Wichita University.

Jets Struggling To Climb Out Of Last Place In IL

By The Associated Press

The Columbus Jets are last in the International League, but don't bet on them sticking around the cellar too long.

They hung a 5-2 loss on the Miami Marlins Tuesday night for their fifth victory in the past eight games and could vault into sixth place after tonight's games.

Rochester reduced Buffalo's first place margin to a game and a half Tuesday night with a 4-3 victory while Havana scored five runs in the 14th inning on only one hit for an 11-6 victory. Toronto defeated Montreal 8-6 in the other IL game.

A doubleheader victory over Richmond tonight and losses by seventh-place Toronto to Rochester and by sixth-place Havana to Miami would spring the Jets into daylight. That combination would give them a solid one-game advantage in sixth place.

The Jets also kept their streak against Miami with victory No. 8 in their last 10 meetings. Lynn Lovenguth pitched his first complete game since May 11 with an 8-hitter that was backed up by Tom Burgess' 20th home run, a two-run shot in the sixth inning that junked Herb Moford's two-hitter. Lovenguth is the Jets winningest pitcher now with nine victories.

Coca Cola Scores 19-10 Win In Minors

Hamilton Class C Pace Is Captured By Widower Gus

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Widower Gus, driven by Marion Stephens of Springfield, came from third to first at the one-eighth pole and edged home in front Tuesday night in the Class C pace at the Hamilton Raceway.

Terminal, driven by Sid Spencer, had led until Widower Gus made his bid one eighth of a mile from the finish line. The winner paid $10.40, $4.60 and $3.40.

I. J. Collins, driven by Jule Jouiso of Fayetteville, also made a great stretch drive to win the co-featured Class C trot in 2:09. He trailed Josedale Lordship until the field hit the stretch.

Waterford Betting Up For First 16 Days

Betting at Waterford Park during the first 16 days of the current meeting rose 6.6 per cent to $4,204,735, the track management announced Tuesday.

Comparative figures were bolstered by a Fourth of July holiday crowd of 10,220 which poured $609,499 into the mutuel machines.

Hits Me Like He Owns Me, Ford Says Of Mays

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "That Mays," muttered southpaw Whitey Ford after Tuesdays' All-Star game. "He hits me like he owns me."

The Yankee pitcher refered to Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants who tripled off him in the eighth to drive in the winning run for the Nationals.

"Mays has batted against me four times now in All-Star games and hit me each time," Ford said.

Jack Mills Resigns Cage Job At Lisbon High School

LISBON — Jack Mills, head basketball coach at Lisbon High School since 1943, has announced his resignation as of Aug. 1. Mills has been basketball coach and assistant football coach to Bud Bucher, the full time except two years in which he served in the Navy during World War II.

Gary Pike, elementary teacher and assistant to Mills, is expected to assume the head job next season. Pike is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Pike, E. Pine St., and a 1958 graduate of Muskingum College where he starred in basketball. He played under Mills at Lisbon.

Mills accepted the post of Athletic Director at Steward Air Force Base, Newburgh, N. Y. and with it goes the head basketball coaching position of the Eastern Air Defense Command team. His headquarters will be at the base which is some 40 miles north of New York City.

His wife and three children will continue to reside at Guilford Lake where the family has made its year-round home for the past nine years. Mrs. Mills will operate the State Auto Insurance Agency which Jack formerly had been engaged in.

This marks the first year for an Eastern Air Defense Command Basketball team. The object is to win the U. S. Air Force title and from there enter the world-wide service tourney with Army, Marine, Navy and Air Force Teams competing. Mills says that many college teams will be booked.

He says he has arranged a tentative date with Youngstown University for 1959 season.

Mills graduated from South Side High School and starred three years at Mt. Union College. He gained All-Ohio first team his sophomore year at Mount Union. He played in this vicinity and Youngstown and he had been affiliated with the famed Youngstown Coaches cage aggregation which competed in area tournaments.

Although he served as a lieutenant in the Navy during World War II, he takes the Air Force post as a civilian. He expects to spend most of his out-of-season weekends at his home. He will be given passage from New York City to Youngstown Airport and return via jet planes.

Curry, who also is seeded first in the division for boys 11 and under, meets unseeded Brent Taylor of Cincinnati in one semi-final match of that event. Zan Guerry III of Chattanooga (No. 2) meets Robin Fry of Springfield (No. 3) in the other.

The first and third rated players in the division for girls 13 and under play unseeded contestants in their semi-final matches. Halimi Remains Favorite In Title Clash Tonight

By BUD MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Broad-shouldered Alphonse Halimi of France risks his world bantamweight crown in a 15-round fight tonight with the No. 1 contender, Jose Becerra of Mexico.

The 27-year-old French Algerian remained the betting favorite at 2-1 or 8-5.

The scrap goes on at 10 o'clock, Eastern Daylight Time, and will be televised nationally via ABC, with Southern California screened out.

There will be no radio broadcast.

Promoter Cal Eaton predicted a crowd of 15,000 or more would pay upward of $150,000 to see the match, which serves as a kickoff sports event for Los Angeles' new 6 million dollar Memorial sports arena.

"I am ready to fight one to 15 rounds. I fully expect to win," said Halimi.

"I promised my people and the president of Mexico I would win the championship," said the 23-year-old contender with the aid of an interpreter.

Halimi, in the second defense of the title he won April 1, 1957, will pick up a guarantee of $65,000. If he loses, he has a guarantee for a rematch within 90 days.

The fight will be scored on a 10-point per round basis.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

I am very happy to report one thing about fishing locally, the perch are definitely showing a marked improvement at Lake Guilford.

They are being taken in the 10- and 11-inch class and that is something I haven't seen for the last eight years.

The musky fry that was stocked in the early spring should be from 6 to 8 inches in length at present and by next year will be big enough to hang on to the hook, although no one would want anything more than to know they are growing and within three years will be big enough to provide some sport fishing.

If they do as well as they have done at the Deer Creek Reservoir, which is not as large a body of water as Guilford, then it should make the local fishermen happy.

EIGHT HUNDRED eastern chain pickerel were stocked in Zepernick Lake last week, running from 6 to 9 inches in length.

These pickerel were hatched and brought up to the present size in the Akron hatchery, before being stocked. This is another game fish, a stranger to a lot of people in this vicinity. Pound for pound a musky has nothing on them for gameness and fight, although their maximum growth is about 9 pounds. Being almost strictly coniverous, they will find plenty of good eating at Zepernick. Any fish they can master will do well to give them a wide berth if they expect to live and do well.

This could be the answer that will keep the fish life in good balance at Zepernick's.

They won't push the bass around too much nor the full-grown bluegills, but the little ones had better hide, and they will hide so they won't get them all.

The runts that refuse to grow will be subjects of the evil eye and appetite of the pickerel. At least that is a thought. . .and a hope. We must give credit where credit is due so another "E" for effort goes to the fish management section.

Being able to catch 8- and 9-inch bluegills and 10-to-12-inch perch is most desirable for shore fishing and good eating.

But when it comes to sports fishing the experienced angler wants fight and poundage. Otherwise the tarpon fishing in Florida would lose popularity because tapon certainly have nothing to offer other than sports fishing.

YOU DON'T need to go to Florida to see sports fishing. Take a look at the anglers at Lake Guilford. You will see fishermen who know better settling for dough ball fishing hoping they tie on to a 30-pound carp. Once they land it, they are through with the fish.

One fellow asked me, "Do you fish for carp"? The answer is no. I am more or less like the shoemaker that has no shoes. I see a lot that goes on, but in my work I have no time to fish seriously until vacation time, which will be coming up soon. One of my main hobbies is fishing. Next comes hunting. My advice to any young man: If you like to hunt and fish, for goodness sake choose any vocation except with the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

You will be around it, you will see it, you will enjoy meeting the hunters and fishermen, at least many of them, and at the same time you will meet some of the most unsportsman like hunters and fishermen you never dreamed existed.

On the other hand, Columbiana County is an exception. I don't know where you can meet a better and a finer bunch of sportsmen who are willing and anxious to help.

Hagge, Berg Tied In Hoosier Tourney

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Marlene Bauer Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., and Patty Berg of West Chicago, Ill., carried 71s into the second half of the Hoosier celebrities golf tournament today.

The two leaders matched men's par Tuesday over the 6,370-yard Fort Wayne Country Club course. Marlene shot 38-33. Patty had a steady 35-36.

Fay Crocker of Wichita, Kan., was one stroke back of the first-round leaders with 35-37-72. Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee and Bonnie Randolph of Columbus, Ohio, tied for fourth at 73.

Welter King Certain Of Win Friday Night

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Champion Don Jordan says he's certain of victory in his 15-round welterweight title fight with young Denny Moyer here Friday night.

"I'm not underestimating Moyer at all," the 25-year-old champion who fights out of Los Angeles said. "But I positively believe that I can whip him."

Jordan, who won the title from Virgil Akins eight months ago, has a 45-11 record. Moyer, 19, has won all 20 of his professional fights.

The fight will be carried by NBC starting at 10 p.m. (EDT).

Stengel Plans Some Changes For 2nd Game

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Take it from the old professor, Casey Stengel. There'll be some changes made for the next All-Star baseball game at Los Angeles Aug. 3.

"Just say I've got my eye on four or five guys," grunted the New York Yankees manager after his American League All-Stars dropped a 5-4 decision to the National League Tuesday at Forbes Field.

"I was satisfied with the team and it was a good game," said Casey, "But when you lose you gotta make some changes. I'll let you know later.

"There's nothing to regret. They (the Nationals) played worse than we did. But they won and that's what counts. If Willie Mays doesn't hit that triple, well there's a lot of things we could have done."

"He (Mays) hit a fast ball," said Whitey Ford of the Yankees, the losing pitcher. "I wasn't tired, I just didn't pitch well."

Ken Boyer of St. Louis led off against Ford with a pinch single, moved to second on Dick Groat's sacrifice. Aaron then bounced a single scoring Boyer. Then came Willie with his smash near the 438-foot mark to score Aaron.

Good strategy?

"Well, when you're a baseball manager and your strategy works, you are a genius. When it doesn't work, look out.

Race For Pennant Starts Again After All-Star Lull

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the first leg of the All-Star series out of the way, major league baseball now gets back to the pennant races, jumping into a swift schedule that could change the scrambles almost overnight.

The free-for-all gets started again Thursday night, although Boston's last-place Red Sox play at New York tonight in a make-up game on the American League schedule.

The National League, a 5-4 winner over the AL in the first All-Star game of the season Tuesday — the second is at Los Angeles, August 3 — picks up the pennant race with Milwaukee's Braves in first place by .003 percentage points over San Francisco and a half-game over third-place Los Angeles.

The Braves, who had a one-game lead — over the Giants — at this stage while winning their second straight flag last season, resume play with a three-game series at Milwaukee against the Dodgers, then play two against the Giants.

San Francisco plays three at Cincinnati before moving into Milwaukee. The Dodgers have two with the Reds, straggling in seventh with Manager Mayo Smith rumored on the way out, after leaving the Braves.

Fourth - place Pittsburgh, 3½ games out of first, is at home for three games with fifth-place Chicago and two with six-place St. Louis.

The immediate American League schedule is just as hot. First-place Cleveland, ahead by two games, is at Chicago for two games with the second-place White Sox Thursday and Friday. The Indians then are at home for a three-game series with Detroit—then play four games at New York.

The White Sox play three with Kansas City after the Indians scram, then have three at Boston and four at New York.

The Yankees, five games behind in fourth place, compared to an 11-game lead at this time a year ago, play six games with the Red Sox in six days, five at Boston. The Red Sox put an end to their skid at seven games by sweeping a pair at Baltimore Sunday, giving new manager Bill Jurges a 2-1 record.

That sweep dropped third-place Baltimore 4½ games behind. The Orioles play five games at Washington before returning home for four games with Kansas City and four with the Tigers.

Detroit, still fifth after dropping three in a row to Cleveland, now trail by six. The Tigers play three with the As before tangling with the Indians again this weekend.

Being almost strictly coniverous, they will find plenty of good eating at Zepernick. Any fish they can master will do well to give them a wide berth if they expect to live and do well.

This could be the answer that will keep the fish life in good balance at Zepernick's.

They won't push the bass around too much nor the full-grown bluegills, but the little ones had better hide, and they will hide so they won't get them all.

The runts that refuse to grow will be subjects of the evil eye and appetite of the pickerel. At least that is a thought. . .and a hope. We must give credit where credit is due so another "E" for effort goes to the fish management section.

Being able to catch 8- and 9-inch bluegills and 10-to-12-inch perch is most desirable for shore fishing and good eating.

But when it comes to sports fishing the experienced angler wants fight and poundage. Otherwise the tarpon fishing in Florida would lose popularity because tapon certainly have nothing to offer other than sports fishing.

YOU DON'T need to go to Florida to see sports fishing. Take a look at the anglers at Lake Guilford. You will see fishermen who know better settling for dough ball fishing hoping they tie on to a 30-pound carp. Once they land it, they are through with the fish.

One fellow asked me, "Do you fish for carp"? The answer is no. I am more or less like the shoemaker that has no shoes. I see a lot that goes on, but in my work I have no time to fish seriously until vacation time, which will be coming up soon. One of my main hobbies is fishing. Next comes hunting. My advice to any young man: If you like to hunt and fish, for goodness sake choose any vocation except with the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

You will be around it, you will see it, you will enjoy meeting the hunters and fishermen, at least many of them, and at the same time you will meet some of the most unsportsman like hunters and fishermen you never dreamed existed.

On the other hand, Columbiana County is an exception. I don't know where you can meet a better and a finer bunch of sportsmen who are willing and anxious to help.

Hagge, Berg Tied In Hoosier Tourney

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Marlene Bauer Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., and Patty Berg of West Chicago, Ill., carried 71s into the second half of the Hoosier celebrities golf tournament today.

The two leaders matched men's par Tuesday over the 6,370-yard Fort Wayne Country Club course. Marlene shot 38-33. Patty had a steady 35-36.

Fay Crocker of Wichita, Kan., was one stroke back of the first-round leaders with 35-37-72. Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee and Bonnie Randolph of Columbus, Ohio, tied for fourth at 73.

Welter King Certain Of Win Friday Night

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Champion Don Jordan says he's certain of victory in his 15-round welterweight title fight with young Denny Moyer here Friday night.

"I'm not underestimating Moyer at all," the 25-year-old champion who fights out of Los Angeles said. "But I positively believe that I can whip him."

Jordan, who won the title from Virgil Akins eight months ago, has a 45-11 record. Moyer, 19, has won all 20 of his professional fights.

The fight will be carried by NBC starting at 10 p.m. (EDT).

Stengel Plans Some Changes For 2nd Game

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Take it from the old professor, Casey Stengel. There'll be some changes made for the next All-Star baseball game at Los Angeles Aug. 3.

"Just say I've got my eye on four or five guys," grunted the New York Yankees manager after his American League All-Stars dropped a 5-4 decision to the National League Tuesday at Forbes Field.

"I was satisfied with the team and it was a good game," said Casey, "But when you lose you gotta make some changes. I'll let you know later.

"There's nothing to regret. They (the Nationals) played worse than we did. But they won and that's what counts. If Willie Mays doesn't hit that triple, well there's a lot of things we could have done."

"He (Mays) hit a fast ball," said Whitey Ford of the Yankees, the losing pitcher. "I wasn't tired, I just didn't pitch well."

Ken Boyer of St. Louis led off against Ford with a pinch single, moved to second on Dick Groat's sacrifice. Aaron then bounced a single scoring Boyer. Then came Willie with his smash near the 438-foot mark to score Aaron.

Good strategy?

"Well, when you're a baseball manager and your strategy works, you are a genius. When it doesn't work, look out.

Race For Pennant Starts Again After All-Star Lull

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

With the first leg of the All-Star series out of the way, major league baseball now gets back to the pennant races, jumping into a swift schedule that could change the scrambles almost overnight.

The free-for-all gets started again Thursday night, although Boston's last-place Red Sox play at New York tonight in a make-up game on the American League schedule.

The National League, a 5-4 winner over the AL in the first All-Star game of the season Tuesday — the second is at Los Angeles, August 3 — picks up the pennant race with Milwaukee's Braves in first place by .003 percentage points over San Francisco and a half-game over third-place Los Angeles.

The Braves, who had a one-game lead — over the Giants — at this stage while winning their second straight flag last season, resume play with a three-game series at Milwaukee against the Dodgers, then play two against the Giants.

San Francisco plays three at Cincinnati before moving into Milwaukee. The Dodgers have two with the Reds, straggling in seventh with Manager Mayo Smith rumored on the way out, after leaving the Braves.

Fourth - place Pittsburgh, 3½ games out of first, is at home for three games with fifth-place Chicago and two with six-place St. Louis.

The immediate American League schedule is just as hot. First-place Cleveland, ahead by two games, is at Chicago for two games with the second-place White Sox Thursday and Friday. The Indians then are at home for a three-game series with Detroit—then play four games at New York.

The White Sox play three with Kansas City after the Indians scram, then have three at Boston and four at New York.

The Yankees, five games behind in fourth place, compared to an 11-game lead at this time a year ago, play six games with the Red Sox in six days, five at Boston. The Red Sox put an end to their skid at seven games by sweeping a pair at Baltimore Sunday, giving new manager Bill Jurges a 2-1 record.

That sweep dropped third-place Baltimore 4½ games behind. The Orioles play five games at Washington before returning home for four games with Kansas City and four with the Tigers.

Detroit, still fifth after dropping three in a row to Cleveland, now trail by six. The Tigers play three with the As before tangling with the Indians again this weekend.

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Jim Reichenbach, 26, one of Massillon High School's football greats, will serve as assistant football coach at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea this fall. He is now youth director at the Y.M.C.A. here.

In addition to his coaching duties, Reichenbach will enroll as a student at B-W, seeking a degree in physical education. He is a graduate of Ohio State University with a degree in business administration.

An outstanding guard on offense at Massillon for three seasons, Reichenbach won all - county honors twice and was an all-Ohio selection in his senior year.

Wide Open Race Seen In Ohio Amateur Golf

By FRITZ HOWELL

CINCINNATI (AP) — A wide open race was on today for medalist honors as the qualifier for the 53rd Ohio Amateur Golf Championship wheeled into its final 18-hole round.

The finish could be the snuggest in history.

In Tuesday's opening half of the test, four players whipped par by a stroke, four others matched it, a half dozen missed by one shot and a dozen by two.

That put 26 within a three-stroke spread for today's finale over Kenwood Country Club's 6,798-yard, par-71 layout. The 63 low scorers for the 36 holes will join defending champion Dick Schwartz of Youngstown, who passed up the qualifier, in match play starting Thursday and running through Sunday.

Out front after the first day with one-under-par 70s were four sharpshooting salesmen, two of whom flubbed last hole chances to take it all.

Andy Augaitis, Dayton clothing salesman and public links star, bogeyed the last two holes and Howard Saunders, the former Ohio State varsity player from Gallipolis, now an insurance man, missed an 18-inch putt on the 18th.

Deadlocked with them at 70 were Don Albert, drug salesman from Columbus who a decade or so ago won the Big Ten title for Purdue, and Robert Larkin of Cincinnati, a Cooper firm salesman who came to Ohio last year from New York.

Even with par 71 were Ohio intercollegiate champion George Bellino of Youngstown; Dr. Harry Duccilli of Wyoming, one of last year's semi - finalists; George Frankenfeld of Cincinnati, former state junior champion and Ohio State player, and James Caspio, the veteran Cleveland public links luminary.

Indications were that a 36-hole score of 152 or better would be necessary to get into the match play since 69 had scores of 76 or less for the first round.

In addition to Augaitis and Caspio, eight other public linksmen of the 22 in the huge field of 204 starters, seemed certain to qualify, all being at 76 or under. Should all 10 make it into the man-to-man competition it would be one of the biggest splurges for the fee course kids.

On the rugged edge were such stars as John Florio of Columbus, the 1929 and 1932 state amateur king and Ed Koski of Steubenville, the public linkster who has won the national Polish title three times. Each opened with 77.

Double 18 - hole match play rounds are scheduled for Thursday and Friday with Saturday's semi-finals and Sunday's championship match to be over the 36-hole route.

Tridico Paces Golden Star

Jim Tridico pounded out two home runs to lead a 15-hit attack and Golden Star in a 14-6 victory over Woodbine in the Pony League Tuesday at Dopler Field.

The Dairymen broke on top with seven runs in the first inning, added one in the second and six in the fourth.

Tridico also added a double and single to have a 4-for-5 day at the plate. Jim Mullen chipped in with three hits including a double.

Hartack's In Demand After Ups And Downs

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Bill Hartack, the 26-year-old jockey who has his ups and downs with owners, trainers, assistant starters, stewards and sports writers, is in demand again.

If you hadn't noticed there was a recent week when he led the riders at two racetracks. He was leading the boys at this picturesque Delaware Park track with 15 out of 50 which means 30 per cent of his mounts were winners.

The same day he led at Monmouth Park in Oceanport, N. J., with 14 winners out of 71 rides.

Hartack, who in 1957 became the first jockey to lead the nation's riders three straight years, finished third in 1958 following a broken ankle the week before the Kentucky Derby. His foot got caught in the stall gate and the only reason he was at Churchill Downs was to work Tim Tam, the colt he hoped to ride and for his second straight Kentucky Derby win.

The little native of Colver, Pa., may not catch Willie Shoemaker or Bobby Ussery in the race for the 1959 riding title but he is again displaying the form that made him top reinsman in the land two years ago.

Results Of Tests Waited On Death Of Avon Man, 43

CLEVELAND (AP) — Although tests still have not been completed for an official ruling in the death of Carl (Arbie) Barnett, 43, he was to be buried at Ashland, Ky., today.

Barnett was killed last Saturday in his home at Avon by a shot which went through the back of his head. His brother, Justin Barnett, 40, was released from custody by Lorain County authorities Tuesday.

Avon police have called the death suicide, but Lorain County officials launched an investigation and are awaiting completion of tests made by the Cleveland Crime Laboratory before issuing an official ruling.

Boating Accidents Aired For Kiwanis

The two causes of every fatal boating accident are ignorance of safety practices or disregard of safety regulations, Harold Krosney of Chester declared in a talk before the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

Krosney said: "Boating is safe, but proper handling and observance of common sense practices must be followed." He cited overloading of boats, lack of lifejackets and careless handling as among the common causes of accidents on the water.

The group authorized sponsorship of a boy or girl to a conservation camp July 25-26 at Tomlinson Run State Park.

The Rev. Wayne Spangler of the Methodist Church was a guest. Jack Berry, Raymond Stevens and Harvey Werkheiser were in charge.

Tridico Paces Golden Star

Jim Tridico pounded out two home runs to lead a 15-hit attack and Golden Star in a 14-6 victory over Woodbine in the Pony League Tuesday at Dopler Field.

The Dairymen broke on top with seven runs in the first inning, added one in the second and six in the fourth.

Tridico also added a double and single to have a 4-for-5 day at the plate. Jim Mullen chipped in with three hits including a double.

Hartack's In Demand After Ups And Downs

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

STANTON, Del. (AP) — Bill Hartack, the 26-year-old jockey who has his ups and downs with owners, trainers, assistant starters, stewards and sports writers, is in demand again.

If you hadn't noticed there was a recent week when he led the riders at two racetracks. He was leading the boys at this picturesque Delaware Park track with 15 out of 50 which means 30 per cent of his mounts were winners.

The same day he led at Monmouth Park in Oceanport, N. J., with 14 winners out of 71 rides.

"I wish we could get Hartack to ride here every day," a Delaware park official moaned the day before the 26-year-old rider from Miami Springs, Fla., drove more than 100 miles to win a 2-year-old stakes race.

Hartack, who in 1957 became the first jockey to lead the nation's riders three straight years, finished third in 1958 following a broken ankle the week before the Kentucky Derby. His foot got caught in the stall gate and the only reason he was at Churchill Downs was to work Tim Tam, the colt he hoped to ride and for his second straight Kentucky Derby win.

The little native of Colver, Pa., may not catch Willie Shoemaker or Bobby Ussery in the race for the 1959 riding title but he is again displaying the form that made him top reinsman in the land two years ago.

Results Of Tests Waited On Death Of Avon Man, 43

CLEVELAND (AP) — Although tests still have not been completed for an official ruling in the death of Carl (Arbie) Barnett, 43, he was to be buried at Ashland, Ky., today.

Barnett was killed last Saturday in his home at Avon by a shot which went through the back of his head. His brother, Justin Barnett, 40, was released from custody by Lorain County authorities Tuesday.

Avon police have called the death suicide, but Lorain County officials launched an investigation and are awaiting completion of tests made by the Cleveland Crime Laboratory before issuing an official ruling.

However, they indicated homicide would be ruled out.

Boating Accidents Aired For Kiwanis

The two causes of every fatal boating accident are ignorance of safety practices or disregard of safety regulations, Harold Krosney of Chester declared in a talk before the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

Krosney said: "Boating is safe, but proper handling and observance of common sense practices must be followed." He cited overloading of boats, lack of lifejackets and careless handling as among the common causes of accidents on the water.

The group authorized sponsorship of a boy or girl to a conservation camp July 25-26 at Tomlinson Run State Park.

The Rev. Wayne Spangler of the Methodist Church was a guest. Jack Berry, Raymond Stevens and Harvey Werkheiser were in charge.

Police Due Training

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A special training program for members of the Warren police department has been ordered by Mayor William C. Burbank. The mayor told safety - service director Joseph Windham Tuesday that he wanted the course to "cover everything from public relations to target practice with heavy emphasis on booking and fingerprinting."

Could Turn Into 'War'

Battle Looms For Control Of Democratic Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battle that could turn into a war is shaping up for control of the 1960 Democratic convention and what kind of presidential candidate it will nominate.

On one side is National Chairman Paul M. Butler, a spokesman for forces usually called Northern and Western liberals.

On the other side are conservative and moderate forces in Congress who look for leadership to Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex).

These Johnson-Rayburn forces say Butler's increasing criticism of the kind of leadership they are providing in Congress is a tipoff that he is trying to force them out of policy making posts in the convention.

"It brings into the open what many of us have suspected, that the liberals are determined to reshape the party to their own views. It is fortunate that the controversy has come into the open a year ahead of the election. That gives us time to settle it," he said.

If the party follows precedent, Rayburn will be permanent chairman of the convention. House Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who has played a role as a compromiser between the two party factions, would be chairman of the platform committee.

Johnson is a potential candidate for the presidential nomination. Butler has said more than once he doesn't think a Southerner or Southwesterner can win the top nomination.

Some congressional sources say Butler would like to see the party nominate Adlai E. Stevenson, who twice lost to President Eisenhower; Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota; or Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, in that order.

Navy Discloses Dives To Explore Unknown Area

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Navy officials said today that preliminary dives of the bathyscaph Trieste have convinced them that it is the forerunner of undersea devices that will carry explorers to the earth's last great unknown frontier.

Eight preliminary dives by the Trieste in this area, the deepest 4,000 feet, have started a program that is aimed at giving man direct information about the three-fourths of the earth's surface covered by the oceans.

Capt. John M. Phelps, commanding officer and director of the Naval Electronics Laboratory, said the program was so vast that it would take much time and money to carry it through.

But he and Dr. Andreas B. Rechnitzer, oceanographer in charge of the Trieste operations, expressed confidence that a good start had been made.

World-Wide Alarm Is Out For Swindler

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Tuesday that Birrell has reportedly been seen in Havana, Montreal, Paris, Caracas, Guatemala City and other cities abroad since he disappeared late in 1957.

Just before his disappearance, said Hogan, a federal court bench warrant was issued for his arrest. Tuesday he was indicted on 69 counts of grand larceny.

An alarm was circulated through all the states and the United States consular offices all over the world, Hogan said.

Birrell is a former president of Swan-Finch Oil Corp., a former director of the Swan-Finch Gas Development Corp. and a former board chairman of Doeskin Products, Inc.

Hogan said the stockholders of Swan-Finch Oil Corp. and Doeskin were defrauded of 14 million dollars. But Birrell got only three million for himself, Hogan said.

Hogan said Birrell's operations caused Doeskin's stock to plummet from $10 a share to $1 a share. It is now selling at $2.

Boy Drowns In Test Of Swimming Prowess

SEATTLE (AP) — A boy who leaped into the Lake Washington Ship Canal with his hands and feet tied in what was to be a demonstration of his swimming prowess drowned Tuesday night.

Robert Waugh, 15, told two companions to tie his hands and feet and he would untie himself while under the water. With his hands and feet tied he jumped into the water. He didn't come up.

Better Terrier Missile Is Reported By Navy

Battle Looms For Control Of Democratic Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battle that could turn into a war is shaping up for control of the 1960 Democratic convention and what kind of presidential candidate it will nominate.

On one side is National Chairman Paul M. Butler, a spokesman for forces usually called Northern and Western liberals.

On the other side are conservative and moderate forces in Congress who look for leadership to Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex).

These Johnson-Rayburn forces say Butler's increasing criticism of the kind of leadership they are providing in Congress is a tipoff that he is trying to force them out of policy making posts in the convention.

"It brings into the open what many of us have suspected, that the liberals are determined to reshape the party to their own views. It is fortunate that the controversy has come into the open a year ahead of the election. That gives us time to settle it," he said.

If the party follows precedent, Rayburn will be permanent chairman of the convention. House Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who has played a role as a compromiser between the two party factions, would be chairman of the platform committee.

Johnson is a potential candidate for the presidential nomination. Butler has said more than once he doesn't think a Southerner or Southwesterner can win the top nomination.

Some congressional sources say Butler would like to see the party nominate Adlai E. Stevenson, who twice lost to President Eisenhower; Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota; or Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, in that order.

Navy Discloses Dives To Explore Unknown Area

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Navy officials said today that preliminary dives of the bathyscaph Trieste have convinced them that it is the forerunner of undersea devices that will carry explorers to the earth's last great unknown frontier.

Eight preliminary dives by the Trieste in this area, the deepest 4,000 feet, have started a program that is aimed at giving man direct information about the three-fourths of the earth's surface covered by the oceans.

Capt. John M. Phelps, commanding officer and director of the Naval Electronics Laboratory, said the program was so vast that it would take much time and money to carry it through.

But he and Dr. Andreas B. Rechnitzer, oceanographer in charge of the Trieste operations, expressed confidence that a good start had been made.

World-Wide Alarm Is Out For Swindler

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Tuesday that Birrell has reportedly been seen in Havana, Montreal, Paris, Caracas, Guatemala City and other cities abroad since he disappeared late in 1957.

Just before his disappearance, said Hogan, a federal court bench warrant was issued for his arrest. Tuesday he was indicted on 69 counts of grand larceny.

Hogan said Birrell was a "night club habitue and a heavy spender," and that he left his third wife and three children in Switzerland.

An alarm was circulated through all the states and the United States consular offices all over the world, Hogan said.

Birrell is a former president of Swan-Finch Oil Corp., a former director of the Swan-Finch Gas Development Corp. and a former board chairman of Doeskin Products, Inc.

Hogan said the stockholders of Swan-Finch Oil Corp. and Doeskin were defrauded of 14 million dollars. But Birrell got only three million for himself, Hogan said.

Hogan said Birrell's operations caused Doeskin's stock to plummet from $10 a share to $1 a share. It is now selling at $2.

Boy Drowns In Test Of Swimming Prowess

SEATTLE (AP) — A boy who leaped into the Lake Washington Ship Canal with his hands and feet tied in what was to be a demonstration of his swimming prowess drowned Tuesday night.

Robert Waugh, 15, told two companions to tie his hands and feet and he would untie himself while under the water. With his hands and feet tied he jumped into the water. He didn't come up.
